

EXPECT ARREST OF DYNAMITERS IN NILES CASE

Military Begins Probe Under Orders of Governor Donahey

Suspects Watched By Special Agents; Mayor Questioned

Niles, O., Nov. 4.—Arrests of those who dynamited the home of Mayor Harvey C. Kistler—the prelude of Saturday's rioting between klan and anti-klan forces here, which resulted in the proclamation of martial law, after thirteen persons had been wounded, was promised within a few hours by state secret service men who have been quietly at work assembling evidence since last Wednesday.

Several suspects are under surveillance. Governor Donahey had had hopes of lifting the martial law from Niles before election but General Hough advised against it.

Niles, O., Nov. 4.—Complying with Governor Donahey's instructions, military officials here are conducting an investigation into the rioting in this city Saturday, in which 13 persons were injured.

The military board is under Major General Benson W. Hough and is seeking only testimony which will show inciting to riot or assault to wound or kill. Evidence uncovered will be turned over to the civil authorities for criminal prosecution.

County Prosecutor Harvey A. Burgess of Trumbull county was called into the state hearing. Officials asked that he be present during the questioning of witnesses.

Among the dozens of witnesses examined were Mayor H. C. Kistler, Sheriff John E. Thomas and deputy sheriffs and members of the police force. At least 50 arrests are expected in connection with the riots.

Sessions of the board are secret. Its report will be made to Governor Donahey and appropriate action, probably the presentation of evidence to a special grand jury will be recommended to Prosecutor H. A. Burgess of Trumbull county.

All blame for the riots is denied by the klan, in statements issued by Clyde W. Osborne, grand dragon of the klan in Ohio, after a conference with klan leaders at Youngstown, and by B. A. Hart, exalted cyclops, and W. H. Kline, manager of the Warren county klan, in a three-column advertisement in a Youngstown paper.

The alleged presence of Major Samuel Cole, head of the Akron detachment of troops, here at the conclave Saturday, and of other Ohio national guardsmen said to have been at the klan camp, will be investigated.

Rumors of another attempt to stage a klan parade prompted General Hough to declare there would be no parades of any kind as long as the troops were here. Spokesmen for the Knights of the Flaming Circle said that as long as the troops are here there will be no trouble. "We are just as determined, however, that the klan shall not stage a parade here," they added.

EXPECT MORE THAN TWO MILLION VOTES

Columbus, Nov. 4.—Campaign managers expect that more than 2,200,000 Ohioans will go to the polls today to register their preferences among the candidates for president and vice president, governor, congress and other elective offices.

Chairmen for the major parties have issued their final statements, claiming victory for their candidates by varying majorities. Although each candidate for governor is claiming the victory, the outcome is probably more in doubt than that for any other office. Most observers regard the contest as a "toss-up." Fight for the attorney generalship, between C. C. Crabbe, Republican incumbent, and Thomas H. Morrow, Democratic nominee, has been bitter, and this race is expected also to be close.

PLAGUE QUARANTINE ENFORCED BY GUARD

Los Angeles, Nov. 4.—An armed force patrolled the Mexican quarter here, enforcing a quarantine established to control the deadly pneumonic plague. Eight more victims over the week-end brought the death toll to 22, all of whom attended the funeral of Mrs. Lucy Samaran Oct. 19. Doctors believe she was the first victim of the plague and that all subsequent cases may be traced to this definite source of infection. Four additional patients are under treatment in general hospital, not expected to live. Health authorities believe the situation under control and do not expect it to spread outside the Mexican quarter.

Victims included two heroes of the plague, Father M. Brualia of Plaza church, who administered last rites to many of the dying, and Emmet McLaughlin, ambulance driver.

Little Lord Fauntleroy
Author Is Dead.

MRS. FRANCES BURNETT

Mrs. Frances Hodgson Burnett, author of "Little Lord Fauntleroy" and scores of other popular books, is dead at her Plandome, Long Island, N. Y., home, at the age of seventy-five. She was one of the world's highest paid writers, many of her works netting her 10 cents a word. In two years she received $200,000 in royalties, one book paying her $20,000 a week for a few months.

CONDITION OF MRS. HARDING IMPROVES PHYSICIAN SAYS

Widow of President Passes
"Fairly Good Night"
Is Report

Marion, O., Nov. 4.—The condition of Mrs. Warren G. Harding, widow of President Harding was somewhat better this morning.

"She had a fairly good night last night," Dr. Carl W. Sawyer said. "She was restless up until about 1 a.m., then went to sleep and had a very good night from three to five hours sleep."

Dr. Sawyer has been in constant attendance. He expressed considerable encouragement today over the improvement in the condition of Mrs. Harding, who is still quite seriously ill at her home at White Oaks farm.

Mrs. Harding slept several hours yesterday and rested much more easily last night. She also ate a more hearty breakfast this morning than she has been able to enjoy for several days. These are the best of reports, according to Dr. Sawyer, for the rest and the nourishment will materially aid her in resisting the complications that have been developed. He said that while these have not subsided, her heart is holding up very well.

Mrs. Harding today was much more cheerful and displayed the keenest interest in news of today's political developments.

JULY CONSUMPTION OF GASOLINE HIGH

Washington, Nov. 4.—Reports on gasoline consumption in July, when consumption was the highest ever recorded, indicate the enormous volume of traffic our highways are now carrying.

The department of the interior reports that the domestic demand for gasoline during July was 794,030,852 gallons. The bureau estimates that at least 85 per cent of this amount was used for motor vehicles, and since 15,552,077 vehicles were registered on July, the average daily consumption was 1.4 gallons per vehicle.

Assuming that the average motor vehicle gets 14 miles per gallon of gasoline, the total daily mileage made by motor vehicles traveled a greater mileage than do all of the passenger trains in the United States in an entire year. The improved roads that have already been constructed must have saved motor owners millions of dollars in the matter of gasoline consumption alone.

Burned to Death.

Cincinnati, Nov. 4.—Burned while attempting to rescue her husband, Claude B. Snook, 68, who was burned to death in their home here, Mrs. Grace Snook, 61, is in serious condition. Snook was trapped in his bed room by the flames after his wife had escaped. When she found he had not got away she tried to get back to him, was overcome with smoke and had to be carried out by neighbors.

RECORD VOTE BEING CAST FIGHTS FOR CONGRESS WARM

PARTIES CLAIM HOUSE CONTROL IN FUTURE BODY

Thirty Two Senate Seats
Under Contest In Tuesday Voting

Control Of House Much In
Doubt—Insurgents
Threatened

Washington, Nov. 4.—The course of the nation's legislative future in the 69th Congress, was at stake today in the battle of the polls between the forces of conservatism and laboratism for control of the United States senate.

With 32 seats under contest in today's election—Senator Fernald, Republican of Maine, having been re-elected in September, there was a possibility that the results would overthrow the balance of power held for the last two years by the LaFollette insurgent block. This phase of the senatorial election overshadowed the fight for "paper" majorities between the Republican and Democratic organizations. To end LaFollette's domination, the Republicans, however, would have to elect at least twenty of their organization candidates, while the Democrats to swing their party into undisputed control, would have to carry at least 3 of the contest shares.

Due to the seeming impossibility of a landslide victory of such proportions for either old party, indications pointed to a continuance of LaFollette's control in the next senate—even though his domination may not be as strong as in the present campaign congress.

Spokesmen for both the old parties issued statements claiming a complete victory in today's elections. For the Republicans, Senator George H. Moses, chairman of the senatorial committee, predicted a sweeping victory for his party's candidates. He pointed out, however, that to win control the Republicans would have to defeat every Democratic nominee in the north, west and border states.

Senator Key Rittman, one of the Democratic managers, forecasts a Democratic senate. He declared the Democrats would win 24 of the contested seats.

Of the 3 seats at stake, sixteen have been held in the present senate by Republicans, 15 by Democrats and 1 by Magnus Johnson, the farmer-laborite of Minnesota. This has left the Republicans with 34 hold over Senators, including Fernald, the Democrats with 28 hold over members and one farmer-laborite, Senator Shipstead of Minnesota.

In today's election, nine Democratic candidates are in states of the solid south and their election has been conceded by the Republican managers. In this group are Senators Robinson, of Arkansas, Democratic leader; Simmons of North Carolina; Harrison of Mississippi; Glass of Virginia; Hefflin, Alabama; Harris, of Georgia; Ransdell of Louisiana; Sheppard, of Texas and Bleasie, who succeeds Dial in South Carolina.

At the same time the Democrats concede the election of three Republicans, Senators Borah, Idaho, Norris, Nebraska and Brookhart, Iowa.

This throws the contest for control of the senate into the fights for the remaining twenty seats, of which 13 are held now by Republicans, six by Democrats in the north, west and border states, and one by the farmer-laborite Johnson in Minnesota.

New York, Nov. 4.—Political control of the new house of representatives for the sixty-ninth congress was in doubt today and the subject of much speculation as ballot boxes opened for the biennial selections of house members.

Republican and Democratic leaders, each claimed a working majority. The LaFollette managers insisted they would retain in the balance of power seized in the present house by their unbreakable group of sixteen.

Congressman Will R. Wood, Indiana, of the Republican congressional committee, placed no estimate on the straight Republican majority. Congressman Oldfield, Arkansas, who has directed the fight for his party nominees for the house, expressed confidence in a strong working majority.

LaFollette leaders said they were certain to hold their votes in Wisconsin and some northwest states and that they would gain others.

The situation is complicated by the number of candidates and the cross endorsements by LaFollette, farmer-labor leaders and independents.

There are more than 1,000 candidates for the 435 house memberships. In some states there are four or five rival candidates—for each congressional seat apportioned to the state. These include Republican, Democrat, LaFollette or progressive, farmer labor, socialist, non-partisan league, prohibition, independent and third party

TOWN VOTES IN FIFTEEN MINUTES

New Ashford, Mass., Nov. 4.—New Ashford was first under the wire again today with its complete election returns. The polls opened at 6 a.m. Fifteen minutes later the vote was in. New Ashford gave twenty votes to Coolidge, four to Davis. Of the six remaining registered voters, two were ill and not voting, four were out of town.

Coolidge's ratio of five to one over the Davis bettered the late President Harding's 4 2/3 to one over the Democratic nominee four years ago, James M. Cox. Harding polled 28; Cox 6. Eight years ago Hughes' 16 to Wilson's 7, was a Republican Democratic ratio of 2 2/3 to 1, with twenty three voting.

In eight years therefore New Ashford made a clean gain of one vote. The voters got to the polls and had it over with today with astonishing alacrity, considering that there are no trolley cars in this town.

It has one church, a Methodist church—built with funds subscribed by public spirited citizens in the bar room of the town's ancient tavern. It was built in 1830.

The town also claims its bats are red-headed and its crickets fly white. That story got circulation when the tavern still separated its bar.

PHILIP L. JORDAN INSTANTLY KILLED WHEN STRUCK BY TRAIN IN RAILROAD YARDS HERE

Philip L. Jordan, 72, senior member of the firm of Philip L. Jordan and Son, plumbers, was instantly killed when he was struck by a locomotive and cut of cars in the Pennsylvania Railroad yards here Tuesday evening at 5:52 o'clock.

Dr. W. A. Galloway, railway surgeon, who was called after the body had been carried to the baggage room at the depot, near the scene of the accident, said death was instantaneous probably resulting from a broken neck. His right foot was nearly severed.

Mr. Jordan, who has been making his home with the family of his son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Jordan, Chestnut Street, was returning to his place of business on South Detroit Street after his evening meal, when the accident occurred. He was crossing the railroad yards as a "short cut" to his plumbing establishment and was standing on the tracks awaiting a freight train to pass, and evidently did not hear the engine and cars approaching on the track on which he was standing. A. J. Lane, High Street, was engineer of the locomotive.

Mr. Jordan was born in Ireland, July 16, 1852, coming to this country when very young, and had lived in Xenia forty seven years. He was for many years employed as a plumber with John A. North and later was plumber and instructor in that craft at the Ohio Soldiers' and Sailors' Orphans Home. Several years ago he established his own business and recently his son, Harry Jordan, had been associated with him in the business.

His wife, Mrs. Mary Ellen Jordan, died nine years ago, and a son, William Jordan brakeman on the Penn-

ELEVEN KILLED AS PASSENGER BUS IS CRUSHED BY TRAIN

Norfolk, Va., Nov. 4.—A bus was struck by a passenger train near Hampton, Va., 11 persons being killed outright and four badly injured.

The scene of the wreck was known as a "blind crossing" and several collisions occurred there. The injured were rushed to Newport News and Hampton. The bus was completely demolished and the dead and injured were strewn along the track for a distance of several hundred yards.

The dead: Floyd Insley, Albert Furman, Gilbert Insley, William Forrest, David J. Hopkins, E. Forrest, J. F. Furman, Miss Mary E. Dixon and 4-year-old Mary Dixon, all of East Messicks, near Hampton, and Mrs. J. S. Cowherd and 4-year-old Virginia Wade of Hampton. The injured: R. M. Rand, Joseph Huggett, Mrs. William Dixon, all of East Messicks.

PARTY MANAGERS LIST ALL EXPENSES

Washington, Nov. 4.—The Republican campaign chest on Oct. 25 had received $3,251,471.69 in contributions and had disbursed $2,550,969.48, a formal report filed with the senate campaign funds committee showed. Democratic collections to Oct. 29 aggregated $604,253.19.

The last report received from the LaFollette-Wheeler organization showed total contributions of $171,812, but John M. Nelson, LaFollette's campaign manager, has testified to receipts of $245,000 up to Oct. 10.

The Socialist party reported that up to Oct. 27 receipts totaled $6,206 and expenditures $4,388. The Association Against the Prohibition Amendment reported total receipts of $15,235 and expenditures of $13,351 up to Oct. 31.

The Anti-Saloon League of America reported an expenditure of $677 in the five days between Oct. 25 and Oct. 31, while the prohibition national committee reported receipts of $6,239 and expenditures of $4,628 up to Oct. 27.

sylvania Railroad, was killed in an accident near Columbus last December 7. Surviving are four sons. They are: Daniel, Pennsylvania railroad brakeman, with whom he made his home; Harry, who was associated with him in the plumbing business; John, a member of the Columbus Fire Department, and Mitchell, of Norwood.

The body was removed after the accident to the Ralph M. Neeld funeral parlors. Funeral services will be held Thursday afternoon at 1 o'clock at the home of his son, Harry Jordan, 313 South Whiteman Street, and burial will be made in Woodland Cemetery.

Friends may call at the home Wednesday evening after 6 o'clock.

FOREST FIRES ARE RAGING IN THREE STATES IS REPORT

Thousands of Acres of Timber Destroyed In Flames.

New York, Nov. 4.—Thousands of acres of valuable timber have been destroyed by forest fires in New York, Pennsylvania and New Jersey. In New York and Pennsylvania hunting has been banned in parts of the states and every effort is being made to check the largest fires in the mountainous regions. The town of Suffern, N. Y., is still in danger, while a dozen fires continue to burn throughout the state.

In eastern Pennsylvania a score of fires are raging and an exclusive summer colony near Wilkesbarre was cut off for a time by the flames. Fires in New Jersey are more nearly under control, but the conservation commission is considering asking Governor Silzer to ban hunting. Dangerous fires are still burning in the northern part of the state.

ASK NO PARKING FRONT OF SCREEN

The Gazette and Republican are asking co-operation of motorists in facilitating showing of election returns Tuesday night by not parking automobiles on the west side of South Detroit Street between the A. Moser shoe store and the Woolworth five and ten cent store, and on the east side of the street in front of the screen.

City officials have agreed to have police keep those sections clear of automobiles and their work will be aided if motorists remember to park in some other spot. The election returns will be thrown by stereopticon in the newspaper office on a screen in front of the building. People standing on the west side of the street can thus see the results of the parking space is kept clear of automobiles.

Peace Parley In China.

Tien Tsin, Nov. 4.—Fighting ceased amid peace negotiations between Feng Yu Hsiang and Wu Pei Fu. The latter is considered defeated. Reports from Mukden said that Chang Tso Lin, having crushed a Chi Li army at Shan Hai Kwan, is preparing to send three divisions to Tien Tsin to help finish off Wu. This may have hastened the latter's decision to capitulate.

To Search For The Ericsson.

New York, Nov. 4.—The United States steamship Trenton sailed to search for the sloop Lief Ericsson and the three adventurers, who last July fared forth from Bergen, Norway, to find a trail—the Norseman blazed across the Atlantic to Labrador 1,000 years ago. The quest was ordered by the navy department at Washington last Saturday, when the voyagers were 42 days overdue at Battle Harbor, Labrador. The Lief Ericsson last was heard from as she passed Julianshaab, Greenland.

Widowed Four Hours After Her Marriage.

MRS. D. C. PAQUETTE

Within four hours after she was married to Donald C. Paquette in an Albany, N. Y., hospital, Mrs. Paquette was a widow. Paquette's leg had been amputated by a railroad train. His fiancée was hastily summoned, legal technicalities sidetracked, and Father Looney performed the marriage ceremony.

COURT OF APPEALS REVERSES DECISION IN CASE OF WELTY

New Trial Ordered For Ex-Congressman Charged
With Fraud

Cincinnati, Nov. 4.—A new trial was ordered for Benjamin F. Welty, former congressman of Lima, O., in United States circuit court of appeals here. He was sentenced to one year in the Dayton workhouse and fined $500 in October, 1923, in Toledo after being found guilty of receiving $1,274.64 as a fee for collecting a war risk insurance claim. Welty was indicted in April, 1923, for charging and receiving this amount for furnishing and executing papers in the claim of Franklin R. Stayer of the bureau of war risk insurance. The law provides a $3 maximum fee.

Welty claimed that when he obtained compensation for the disabled soldier he never received any fee nor asked for any. The money paid him, he claimed, was for attorney's fees and expenses incurred in settling a claim made by the soldier's father whom he represented.

The decision of the court of appeals remands the case to the federal district court at Toledo, where Judge Paul Jones of Youngstown last winter sentenced the former congressman to serve a year in the Dayton workhouse.

In addition to the sentence other phases of the case are affected by the reversal. Welty challenged the validity of legal limits on attorneys' fees, and two of his main contentions were that he had not charged the veteran anything and that his bill of more than $1,200 was chiefly for expenses on trips to Washington, which the boy's father had agreed to pay. The claimant in the case was the boy's father, who sought to obtain from the government reimbursement for money spent on the boy. His contention was that the veterans' bureau should have paid for care of the youth.

Welty served in congress from the Fourth district from 1917 to 1921 and was the Democratic nominee in 1920, but was defeated by John L. Cable.

Martial Law Not Lifted.

Columbus, Nov. 4.—Governor Donahey stated that martial law at Niles will not be lifted for several days. Although reluctant to keep the city under military control election day, the governor was assured by Major General Benson W. Hough that it would be unwise to remove the troops at this time. What action will be taken by the governor regarding Mayor or Kistler and Sheriff Thomas was not indicated. The mayor was suspended automatically from a portion of the duties of his office when martial law was declared. Whether he actually will be suspended depends on what information Governor Donahey receives from General Hough and the governor's special investigators in Niles.

VOTERS FLOCK TO POLLS IN ALL SECTIONS U. S.

Reports Received By Managers Show Big Vote On Tap.

Republicans and Democrats Express Confidence In Results

Cleveland, Nov. 4.—With polls in Ohio open at 5:30 central standard time, a record vote has been reported during the morning hours in many Ohio cities. Office and factory workers for the most part voted before leaving for work and in some precincts in Cleveland and suburbs more than half the vote had been recorded by nine o'clock according to reports to the board of elections.

With a heavy vote being cast for Senator LaFollette in the big industrial centers, both Democrats and Republicans expressed confidence in the outcome on the state ticket. Partisans of Governor Donahey professed to see indications of a landslide in his favor, while supporters of former Gov. Davis freely predicted today that he would leave the boundaries of Cuyahoga county with a plurality that might reach 50,000 or 60,000 votes over his opponent—far more than enough, they said to overcome any rural plurality. Donahey in view of the likelihood of majorities in Hamilton, Mahoning and other downstate counties.

Outside of the presidential and state wide races interest centered in the personnel of the next congressional election. At present Ohio is represented by sixteen Republicans and six Democrats. Republicans profess confidence in retaining all districts now represented by them and adding several more to the list, including the Cleveland districts represented by Congressmen Mooney and Crosser. Democrats see a chance to gain seats in the third, fourth, fifth, sixth, eighth, twelfth, thirteenth and seventeenth districts, with an outside chance in the 18th, where Mrs. Phoebe Sutcliffe, the only woman candidate against B. Frank Murphy of Steubenville.

Washington, Nov. 4.—Reports received up to noon at Republican, Democratic and independent headquarters here indicate that the nation will cast the largest vote in its history today.

Every power of the big national organizations of each party is being directed to get out the vote. District managers were informed by wire of the necessity of devoting the entire day to appeals to citizens at all hazards to register their sentiments at the polls between dawn and sundown. President Coolidge and John W. Davis, his Democratic opponent, delivered radio addresses last night, but their chief concern was the appeal to citizens to vote.

A balance of power will remain with the Progressives in the next two years in the senate, of which one-third of the total membership of 96 is to be elected today, and probably in the house, of which the entire membership of 435 is up for re-election. The present congress, the Sixty-eighth, has one more short session, beginning in December, and will pass out of existence March 4, replaced by the Sixty-ninth congress, which the people today will elect to succeed it.

In the congressional campaign a unique phase is the scrapping of old party lines in many of the contests, as a result of indorsements by the elements supporting the presidential candidacy of Senator Robert M. LaFollette. Instead of creating a congressional ticket of its own, the LaFollette movement has indorsed and is trying to help elect candidates wearing the old party labels who meet its requirements, as well as a handful of independents running on tickets other than the Democratic and Republican. The great bulk of the house and senate candidates so indorsed is composed of Democrats.

As a result of the invasion of old party lines by LaFollette indorsements in the house contests, the chances favor, first, a Democratic house; or, secondly, a house with a Republican majority on paper, but without actual Republican control.

President Coolidge will remain at work in the white house all day, having sent his ballot by mail to his home voting precinct in Northampton, Mass. Davis is at his home on Long Island, and Senator LaFollette, the third entry in the race, is at Madison, Wis.

The LaFollette managers again declared that a "great victory for the progressive cause" was in sight. They insisted that whatever the outcome of today's voting, the independent group had established itself as a permanent factor in American politics, which ultimately must force a reconstruction of party lines.

CHARLES BRAND MAY SUCCEED WALLACE

Washington, Nov. 4.—The agricultural organizations asked by President Coolidge to submit the names of men whose appointment as secretary of agriculture would be satisfactory to them have already begun to comply it was announced at the White House. The following names have been received:

Louis J. Tabor, Columbus, O., master of the national grange; Charles Marsh, Litchfield, Mass.; John Fields, Oklahoma City, editor of the Oklahoma Farmer; Samuel Adams, Illinois, former president of the Agriculture Editor Association; E. E. Fayville, Portland, Ore., editor of the Western Farmer; Herbert Myrie, Springfield, Mass., editor of several farm publications; Frank O. Lowden, former governor of Illinois; Charles H. Brand, Urbana, O., member of congress, and C. W. Pugsley, president of the South Dakota Agricultural college and former assistant secretary of agriculture.

INFANT GRANDSON OF XENIANS DIES

Richard Coleman, the five months old son of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Howard (Martha Finley) of Delaware, died suddenly Tuesday morning, according to word received by Mr. Howard's parents, Dr. and Mrs. W. H. Finley.

The cause of the child's death was not known. The baby had appeared in good health and was found dead in his crib early Tuesday morning. Dr. and Mrs. Finley spent the week end with their son-in-law and daughter, and just returned Monday. They left Tuesday morning for Delaware on receipt of word of the child's death.

FIRE CHIEF WILL PROBE COLP FIRE

Fire Chief T. B. Claire announced Tuesday that he may conduct an investigation of the circumstances surrounding the fire early Sunday morning at the Xenia Supply Company on South Detroit Street, which destroyed a large warehouse and contents, entailing a loss of approximately $3,000, part of which is covered by insurance.

Chief Claire intimated that the appearance of the fire, when the department arrived led both him and the owner of the property, Isaac Colp, to believe that the warehouse had been deliberately set afire, because it was noticed that the frame structure was not burning one particular spot, but the flames appeared to be springing up from all corners and in the middle. Fireman continued to play a stream of water upon the ruins all day Monday, and a squad of men was set at work tearing down the remainder of the warehouse.

ABSENT VOTERS NUMBER 171 HERE

A complete tabulation of the absent ballots vote, by the Board of Elections, Saturday showed that a total of 171 citizens who expected to be away from the city on election day had availed themselves of the right to vote.

The time limit for the absent ballot expired Saturday night, and it was noticed that more votes were cast on the last day than on any other previous day. It is not known whether the absent ballot vote during the election year exceeded any previous vote, but it is believed that the total number of votes this year is about the average.

LIBRARIAN WILL SPEAK IN XENIA

Herbert Hershberg, Columbus, state librarian, will address members of the Greene County Library Board and the County Commissioners, in the commissioners' office in the Court House, Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Mr. Hershberg will discuss county library affairs and other matters of interest to local officials.

FIREMEN CALLED AS GRASS IGNITES

A small grass fire, thought to have originated from sparks from a passing train, occurred in P. H. Flynn's field on the Springfield Pike about 3:15 Monday afternoon, but was extinguished without damage.

This was the third fire that has occurred in fields lying adjacent to the railroad track on North Detroit Street within the past two weeks. All fires were attributed to sparks from passing trains.

GIVES PAPER

Dr. F. W. Stanton, pastor of the First M. E. Church gave a review of Dr. Charles Jefferson's book, "Quiet Hints to Growing Preachers," at the meeting of the Xenia Ministerial Association, in the study of Second U. P. Church, Tuesday morning.

Dr. Stanton's paper was the only feature of the meeting.

EAST END NEWS

Miss Lois Raymond, of East Second Street, left Thursday evening for Chicago, where she will take up nurses' training.

Mrs. Helen Kendall and daughter Betty, of Dayton are the guests of Mrs. Elizabeth Raymond, of East Second Street.

The Effie Carter W. C. T. U. will meet Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Fernia Booth of East Church Street at 2 o'clock.

CROWD HEARS TALK

A large gathering at the K. K. K. Tabernacle, Sunday afternoon, heard the address on "Christian Citizenship" by the Rev. A. J. Furstenberger.

"The Old Rugged Cross" was sung by Mrs. Bess Wolf. Music was furnished by the Eloczer orchestra.

COOLIDGE COOLY CONFIDENT WHILE VOTERS DECIDE HIS POLITICAL FATE IN BALLOTING

Washington, Nov. 4.—With millions of citizens determining his political fate at the polls today, President Coolidge today was unconcernedly going through the mechanical routine at the White House Tuesday.

The result of today's election is a foregone conclusion with the president. He already has stated publicly that he expects to maintain the White House as his residence for an additional four years, and he has merely an academic interest in the size of the majority he expects to poll over John W. Davis and Robert M. La Follette.

As is usual on Tuesday's immediately after breakfast, the president went into conference with General Lord, chief of the budget bureau. The work of formulating the federal budget recommendation to congress is now at its height and Mr. Coolidge spent over half an hour in consultation with his financial aid. The budget conference was followed by the regular Tuesday cabinet meeting—although with fully half of the cabinet out of the city to vote, the meeting was rather perfunctory.

Mr. Coolidge formally ended his campaign last night when over the radio he urged every citizen to go to the polls "in the spirit that they would approach a sacrament" and vote "solely in the light of their own conscience." He went further, however, in his final speech and lashed out for the last time at the minorities figuring in the campaign ended today.

"We shall always have with us an element of discontent, an element inspired with more zeal than knowledge," he told his radio audience. "They will always be active and energetic and they seldom fail to vote on election day. But the people at large in this country are not represented by them. They are greatly in the minority. But their number is large enough to be a decisive factor in many elections, unless it is offset by the sober second thought of the people who have something at stake, whether it be earnings from investments or from employment, who are considering not only their own welfare, but the welfare of their children and of coming generations."

"Our institutions never contemplated that the conduct of this country, the direction of its affairs, the adoption of its policies, the maintenance of its principles should be decided by a minority moved in part by self interest and prejudice."

BIG VOTE RECORDED IN GREENE COUNTY

Indications at Xenia polls Tuesday were that a record vote would be cast in Greene County.

Officials at voting places within the city reported early that a much larger vote than usual for that time of day, was being recorded.

Many important issues in the campaign, including the fact this is a presidential year, are believed responsible for cheating unusual interest and resulting in a huge vote being cast.

"Our country is always safe when decisions are made by a majority of those who are entitled to vote. It is always in peril when decisions are made by a minority."

TROOPS ORDERED TO HERRIN AS TROUBLE AGAIN THREATENS

Carbondale, Ill., Nov. 4.—Headquarters Company of the 138th regiment, Illinois National Guard, of Carbondale, received orders this noon to mobilize and proceed at once to Herrin and Marion, Williamson County.

Reports were current here that the troops were ordered out on strong indications of trouble in Williamson County.

According to reports here a large number of gangsters have poured into Herrin today.

Feeling here and at other southern Illinois points was tense today owing to the mysterious distribution since Sunday of thousands of large folders, savagely attacking President Coolidge and Governor Len Small. One of the posters depicted Governor Small being led through southern Illinois by S. Glenn Young, Williamson County Klan leader.

Herrin, Ill., Nov. 4.—H. Glenn Young, leader of the Williamson county Ku Klux Klan clashed this noon with special United States Marshal Jeffrey at one of the polls here.

Young, according to reports ordered Jeffrey away from the polling place. A tense situation has been created as a result, according to reports County authorities were said to have asked for more troops.

FRATERNITY MOVES TO NEW QUARTERS

Beta Beta Chapter, Phi Delta Kappa Fraternity, has moved to new rooms over the Buckeye Press, West Main Street, where handsome quarters for the local chapter have been fitted out. The suite consists of a lounging and reading room, card room and kitchen.

The initial meeting of the chapter in the new quarters was held Monday night with a large representation of fraternity brothers. Plans were made for local and national expansion in the organization. The local chapter is planning to stage an affair soon.

LABOR CABINET IN ENGLAND RESIGNS

London, Nov. 4.—England's first labor-socialist government passed out of existence this evening. Premier Ramsay MacDonald went to Buckingham palace and tendered the resignation of himself and his colleagues to King George and they were immediately accepted.

Mrs. C. L. Babb, of South King St., and Mrs. R. R. Grieve, of West Market Street, have returned from Pittsburgh, Pa., where they were at the bedside of their sister, Mrs. Charlotte C. Lust. Mrs. Lust passed away last week.

Mrs. O. T. Coblenz, of the Brush Road, is confined to her home by illness. She was taken ill Monday afternoon.

Mrs. George Slagle of Chestnut St., returned home from New York last Thursday morning, where she has been visiting friends for several weeks.

Mrs. Susie King, nurse at the Tuberculosis Hospital, Columbus, Ohio, was the guest of her mother, Mrs. Anna King, of Leaman Street, Monday evening.

CHILD STRUCK BY AUTO UNINJURED

Two small girls, daughters of Mrs. Ella Lorimer, North King Street, miraculously escaped serious injury Monday afternoon about 5 o'clock when a Ford Coupe, owned and driven by Edward Davidson, West Church Street, going south on North Detroit Street, hit the smaller of the two girls as they ran in front of the machine, knocking her down.

Davidson was driving on the right hand side of the street, and because of a parked automobile was unable to see the children, who ran unexpectedly across the street. The older girl got by safely but her smaller sister was struck, and knocked beneath the machine which passed over her.

She was uninjured except for several minor bruises, and after being taken to her home, went to school Tuesday morning.

VICTORY PREDICTED BY CARMI THOMPSON

That a big vote in Ohio Republican precincts forecasts a big Republican victory, is the substance of a telegram received by George Little, of this city, from Carmi A. Thompson, Cleveland, Republican candidate for governor two years ago.

The telegram says: "Big vote in Republican precincts Cuyahoga County, also throughout state, indicates big Republican victory tonight." The wire was sent after 11 o'clock Tuesday morning when early voting indicated a big vote would be cast.

Eminent European specialist, Dr. Ciamarelli, says, "If underweight, worn-out, or run-down, follow this advice; and watch results."

It is not what you eat or how much you eat but insufficient gland action (due to advancing years, overwork, sickness, or worry) that makes you flabby, bony, and scrawny looking. Worn out, dried up glands make it impossible to form flesh and strength. Yet many people who eat less have good firm flesh, normal weight, and are full of life and energy because their glands are now working full force.

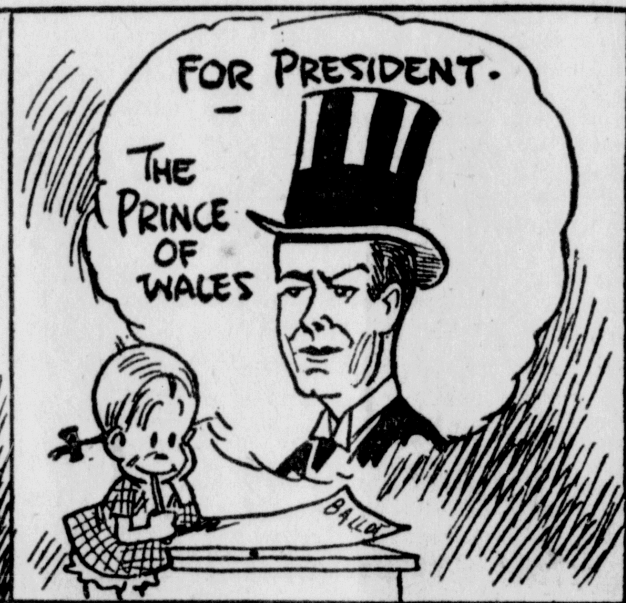

Formerly the recognized power of fresh organic glands to put on flesh that stays firm, and makes nervous, anaemic folks strong and even tempered, was confined to rich people. But now everyone who has tried doctoring with ordinary tonics and medicines can purchase a combination of pure organic glands, phosphates (for the NERVES) and iron (for the blood) for a few cents at any drug store merely asking for Kath. This Kath is known to rebuild exhausted glands without the use of drugs.

Make This Test: First weigh and measure yourself. Next take the small tablets of glands, roots and herbs (as found in Kath). Then weigh and measure yourself every 5 days and continue taking Kath until you are satisfied with your gain in weight and energy. The scientist who has discovered Kath has agreed to supply it with the understanding that if you are not completely satisfied with results the entire purchase price will be refunded by the drugist from whom you buy it.

A Judge's Comment

in recently rendering a decision in one of the cases growing out of 'Ponzi's' exploit, Federal Judge Anderson of Boston, is quoted as saying:

"There are no greater fools in the world than the investing public. Ponzi will shortly return to the financial field with a new scheme and the public, with the same old mob psychology, will turn to him again with their hard-earned savings."

Observations like this, coming from men in high places with the lessons to be gotten from the present train of disasters resulting from quick-rich promotions, should be sufficient to put the public on their guard.

Let us give you 6 per cent and peace of mind. Our methods have been tried for 50 years and in that time have not been found wanting.

WHERE DID CAIN GET HIS WIFE

One Frank R. Shipman in The Christian Century, propounds a question which is a severe test of any man's biblical knowledge. "Where did Cain get his wife?"

The Bible says that, until Adam, "there was not a man to till the ground" and that Eve was "the mother of all living." Now the only recorded children of Adam and Eve are Cain and Abel. Cain slew Abel.

Mr. Shipman offers the following possible theories to explain the perpetuation of the human race:

(1) Cain's wife was made, like Adam, from the dust or, like Eve, from her husband's rib. But Mr. Shipman "would see something grotesque in the idea of a Cain brought up through babyhood, childhood and youth to meet a ready-made bride."

(2) Eve may have had many daughters unmentioned in the Bible. But "for many years the human mind has shrunk sensitively away from the idea of confusing the beautiful relation of brother and sister with the other relation of husband and wife."

(3) The "original autograph" theory—i. e., the Bible as originally dictated by God, contained no mistakes and no hiatus, but parts of it have been lost in transmission. But, says Mr. Shipman, "to conclude that the original autograph was perfect and entire, lacking nothing of being absolutely correct astronomy, geology, zoology, geography, biology ethnography—constitutes a leap in literary supposition for which no one can give any reason."

(4) Both the Adam-Eve story and the Cain story were ancient folk-tales brought together for certain literary and moral purposes, but without any idea that they should constitute an infallible chapter and an infallible book. "To such a reader (i. e., one who sees the book of Genesis in this light) it does not matter where Cain got his wife."

Why did Mr. Shipman write this article? It was not satire. It was not research. It was not irreverence. On the contrary, it was a reverent parable which endeavored to explain how a man could be a Christian without taking the Bible literally from Genesis to Revelations.—Time.

ACTUAL PROGRESS IN LAW ENFORCEMENT

It must be admitted that it is not always wise to accept the estimate of one who proposes to accomplish great things as to what he can or will do, but it is equally true that if one desires to learn what progress a pupil is making in school he asks the teacher or if he feels particularly solicitous regarding the condition of one who has committed himself to the care of a doctor he asks the doctor. One would not go to a blacksmith to inquire regarding either of these, or to a banker or lawyer to advise how the status of either of them might be improved.

So it seems entirely proper that those who sincerely desire to learn of the progress being made in enforcing the law forbidding the manufacture or sale of intoxicating beverages in the United States should inquire of those whose business it is to supervise and direct the efforts being made to enforce that law. Mr. Roy A. Haynes, who occupies the position of Prohibition Commissioner in Washington, has recently declared that there is now noticeable, a great improvement in enforcement conditions, the direct result of improved co-operation between federal and local authorities, the imposition of jail sentences instead of fines for violators, and the general use of the padlock in closing and keeping closed the places where these liquors have been illegally dispensed.

One thing has been apparent for some time to those who have had an opportunity to observe existing conditions. It is that the gradual drying up of domestic sources of supply has driven the bootleggers to depend almost entirely upon liquors smuggled in from ships along the seacoasts. Now with the proved ability of the revenue cutters to shut off this supply, there is bound to be a lessening in the number of offenses.

THREE-CORNERED POLITICS

One reason why the United States has been able to accomplish what it has is that we were a united nation, as the name implies. While the nation is made up of states, each having its own laws within reasonable limits, there is a bond combining all the people in one great commonwealth. Americans take their politics pretty hard while the campaign is on, but they do not make the mistake of making politics their chief object in life as the people of some other countries do.

Americans are willing to abide by the will of the majority, or something like it, and after the election result is announced they go back to their regular daily life. By having two political parties and making one work against the other they have been able to keep a certain control over their government. Third parties have bobbed up from time to time but they have not lasted long. The hope is that the voters will realize their responsibilities and make their votes show where they stand, so that the result may be decisive and the nation may have the benefit of a government at Washington which has a real mandate, one way or another. Three-cornered politics cannot survive; it would be a curse to this nation or any other that permitted it. Let's have two great divisions of the people, so that the voter can make his vote "Yes" or "No" and we may not be afflicted with a non-committal and irresponsible government.

THINKERS ALL

You can't find out what a fellow thinks.
Where the slag comes up and the metal sinks
In the cupola of a foundry's gloom;
You can't get his thoughts in the crowded room
And the clang and stir of a factory grim;
Then life is too busy and swift for him
To do more than snarl at the dirt and heat;
You can't read his mind on the busy street,
You must wait till you get him somewhere alone,
Then he'll make his dreams and his fancies known.

They are merely men as they walk to work,
Mechanic and foreman and drudge and clerk
Laughing or frowning, or sad or gay,
Merely a throng as they go their way;
But each of them's bringing a thought to bloom.

Which you never will see in a factory's gloom;
Never from seven to five you'll find
The nobler side of the toiler's mind;
But somewhere away from the world's harsh tone
He'll tell what he thinks when he's all alone.

Out in the woods, by stream or hill,
When the stars come out and the night is still,
He will turn to you and he'll whisper low
Of the thousand things which he wants to know;
He'll utter his faith in a simple way,
He'll tell what he says when he kneels to pray,
He'll talk of eternal joys to be—
Oh, a different sort of man you'll see
Than the toiler grim in the furnace hole
When you get him alone and he bares his soul.

THEIR DAY

1904-Twenty Years Ago-1924

A Xenia team of bowlers defeated a Dayton team, known as the St. Martins' team, in two games out of three Thursday evening at the Schmidt and Zetter bowling alleys.

The freshmen held a class meeting Thursday afternoon after school, and chose their class colors and flower. The colors are light blue and gold, while the flower chosen is the white rose.

The up-to-date Metropolitan Minstrels was the attraction at the Opera House Thursday night. This minstrel production was by far the best that has visited Xenia in a long time.

At a meeting of the directors of Woodland Cemetery on Thursday night a reorganization was affected by the election of officers.

flannel. You are lucky to receive such a gift. There is nothing more artistic or decorative in a room, than a piece of old pewter.

Mother: "How can I sterilize my children's toothbrushes?"

Answer: Ordinary table salt is an excellent sterilizer for toothbrushes. Many housekeepers keep a kitchen salt cellar in the bathroom for this purpose. Just shake a little on the bristles, now and then, and lay in the sun, then wash well. Soaking toothbrushes in denatured alcohol will also sterilize them.

Mrs. E. L.: "How can olive oil be removed from a hardwood floor?"
Answer: With either gasoline or kerosene. But take care not to use these fluids near heat or flame.

Daisy: "I have washed a white tablecloth with yellow chmstitching, and the yellow has run into the white. What can be done?"
Answer: As the yellow is dye, it is hopeless to try to remove it from the white part of the tablecloth. The only thing you can do now is to bleach it all, so that the yellow will be white. Do this with Javelle Water, which you can buy at any drugstore. Follow directions on the bottle. I cannot promise perfect results, but it is worth trying. White tablecloths are expensive, these days, and the bottle of Javelle Water will not cost much.

Mrs. H.: "I have a stove with the kind of top which is not supposed to be polished. How is it cleaned?"
Answer: When the fire is out, clean it by rubbing with a little kerosene oil. This will also remove rust from a stove.

High School Girl: "A relative has given me a beautiful pewter plate. How can I clean it?"
Answer: Only the finest abrasives should be used on pewter to avoid scratching the metal. The finest grade of steel wool, moistened with linseed oil, may be used. Or apply powdered rottenstone with a flannel cloth which is wet with a mixture of equal parts of linseed oil and turpentine. Finish by washing in hot soapsuds, wipe dry, and give a polish with camels or soft

Today's Talks

LISTEN!
You will always learn ten times as much listening as by talking.

There is this great advantage: When you listen you can think at the same time. You can have your own opinion and it will be refined and enlarged as you listen.

When you talk there is the chance that you will pay too much attention to the sound of what you say and not enough to the meaning of what you say.

And do not say too much when you do talk. Much real thought goes a long way.

The other day I listened to a noted man at a dinner. If he had cut his speech in half it would have been the "hit" of the evening. As it was, he spoiled his triumph during the first half by growing stale during the last half.

After the dinner was over I asked the speaker's manager why he had talked so long and he said that he had to earn his fee which was a very large one. I replied that he earned it amply when he was half through.

A large part of my knowledge, such as it is, I attribute to listening: on trains, in barber shops, at luncheon tables, at gatherings on the street, in hotel lobbies.

When I was working my way through college I was night clerk in a small hotel. And to paraphrase Mr. Kipling: I learned much about men while there. I used to sit by the big fire and just listen.

Listening is like reading an interesting book. You can kindle the fires of your imagination and add as much fuel as you like.

And I think it a splendid idea to keep your opinions to yourself, unless you are asked to express them, or have something to say that will add to meritorious thought.

The best way I know of to become a good talker is to be a good listener!

LESSON NO. 2

THE PROPER USE OF LIGHT HOW WE SEE

Objects are seen by the light that falls upon them and is reflected to our eyes. A dark object reflects but little of the light that falls upon it—perhaps less than one-fourth; a light colored object reflects a large part of the light—perhaps three-quarters.

If we are to see objects, the light must fall upon them and be reflected from them. The more darkly they are colored, the more light is needed to enable us to see them. The light that falls on objects which we wish to see may be termed useful light. Most electric lamp bulbs when used without shades or reflectors throw out light in all directions—just as much to the ceiling and walls of a room as down to the table top. Well designed shades are made so that they not only soften the light, but also reflect some light that would otherwise be wasted and direct it downward and outward to the objects that we wish to see.

GLOOM

Proper lighting requires two things: First, that there be enough light so that the eye can see quickly and easily; and second, that this light be shaded and so placed in the room that the eye is not strained by glare. Many homes have soft, shaded light that is too dim for good vision; others have enough light but harmful glare is a part of it; too few homes have plenty of light without glare, which is necessary for proper lighting and the protection of eyesight.

The eye is truly a wonderful organ. Because it does not always immediately complain, we often make it work under great difficulty, and strain it.

Have you ever stopped reading because of a feeling of discomfort? You have a headache without any reason for it that you can think of, or your eyes feel tired, or you find that you cannot fix your attention on your book or paper. You may find later that these are signs you were straining your eyes.

We can see under a dim light, but we can see more easily and more quickly if we have more light. When we live day after day with too little light, we are likely to find that our eyesight is affected, and that we may need glasses. Then we know we have strained our eyes until they cannot do their work without help.

DECORATE WITH LIGHT

Up to this point we have thought of lighting only as it helps us to see easily—in other words, as it is useful. Of course, this is very important in every room in the home, and everywhere else. But when we light our home, we want the lighting to make each room pleasant and attractive, and our lighting, except for the work rooms (the kitchen, the laundry, the basement and attic), should be as much of a decoration or ornament as the pictures and rugs and curtains.

Lighting equipment may be ornamental and decorative, and at the same time it can be made in such a way that it will properly light the room. Much of the lighting equipment in use today can be greatly improved by using shades that are longer, so that the bulb is completely hidden from the eye and denser, so that no extremely bright spot appears in the center of them.

A FEW CAUTIONS

Here are a few cautions that will help you protect your eyes:

Don't judge the amount of light in a room by the brightness of the bare, unshaded bulbs. That is the indication of glare.

Don't expose your eyes to unshaded lights. That may cause eyestrain.

Don't read while facing a bright light or a sunny window. Have the light come from beside you or over your shoulder.

Don't use bright lights against a dark background.

Don't try to read in a dim light that tires your eyes.

Don't let your lighting equipment get dirty. Clean it regularly. Dust and dirt may cause you to lose as much as one-half or even three-fifths of the light that the bulbs produce and that you are paying for.

Don't depend on taking out light bulbs to connect appliances and portable lamps. Have convenience outlets put in for this purpose.

Don't be indifferent to the preservation of your eyesight.

REPUBLICAN MEET AT THIRD BAPTIST CHURCH ENDS DRIVE

The closing campaign rally for Republican colored voters in Greene County and incidentally the closing rally in the County before election was held Monday night at the third Baptist Church and was attended by a large and enthusiastic audience. Speeches by the Rev. A. W. Pueller, who delivered the principal address, Fred D. Patterson, Greenfield, O., manufacturer and Miss Ellen Barnes, Oberlin, featured the rally.

The talk by the first speaker, Miss Barnes was short, but filled with interest. Miss Barnes, directed her remarks to the women, in a plea to "get out the vote", and narrated the many past achievements of the Republican party.

The address by Fred D. Patterson was also of much interest. Mr. Patterson, gave a view of the political situation from a business man's standpoint, but expressed the opinion that every voter should be independent of party affiliations.

The address of the Rev. A. W. Pueller was the principal feature of the meeting. The Rev. Pueller was a former pastor of the church Booker T. Washington attended, and well versed on leading political questions.

The Rev. Pueller told something of his biography, and delivered a masterly plea in behalf of the Republican party, declaring that it was the duty of every colored citizen to support that party in view of the numberless past G. O. P. achievements and accomplishments for the good of the colored race.

Dr. H. R. Hawkins, of this city, presided at the meeting as chairman and introduced the speakers. A local band furnished the music.

The afternoon meeting, which was to have been held at Wilberforce University was not held, as arrangements could not be completed in the short time allotted.

RED CROSS WORKERS PREPARE FOR DRIVE TO START NEXT WEEK

Plans are being completed for the Eighth Annual Red Cross Roll Call in Xenia City. Chairmen are urged to notify their solicitors as soon as possible and report their names to the Red Cross office, Thursday.

Tuesday, November 11, Armistice Day, is set aside for the Roll Call all over the United States.

A meeting of the Red Cross Roll Call workers in Bath Township was held Monday in Fairfield. Mrs. George Warner of Osborn and Mrs. Roscoe Rockfield of Fairfield are the chairmen in Bath Township.

Two hundred and one children in the Bath Township schools were inspected by the Red Cross nurse last year and follow up calls made on some of the parents.

Two crippled children attended the clinics. One received full correction. The child moved from county so the case was referred to a State Welfare worker the new home who will see that further treatment is given if it should be necessary. In one other case correction was completed. In two other cases correction was not made. The Red Cross nurse accompanied a state worker to their homes to interest parents in hope of having them come to the clinic for examination thus gaining their interest and co-operation.

Two crippled children needed tonsil and adenoid operations but condition of child did not warrant same when examined by doctor. Three children were cared for at the clinic from Bath Township.

One school child was examined at the chest clinic. Advice was given in several families on care and prevention of the disease and one child was taken to doctor for chest examination. Three children were taken to a doctor for examination at the request of the state welfare department. Two children were brought to Xenia to have eyes tested brought to first, financed by parents.

One case of cruelty to a child was reported. The secretary accompanied a state worker to home of the crippled adult to see if he could learn some trade. A visit was made on a man at Infirmary from Bath Township for the same purpose. Neither were in condition to take up work. Two calls were made on a soldier who owed money to Red Cross in another county. Several calls on soldiers who had returned from hospitals and on men receiving government care. The aim of the Red Cross is to help people to help themselves.

RECIPES WE HAVE TESTED

The Gazette-Republican has a number of home tried recipes handed in by women of the city at the time of the Gazette-Republican Home Makers Cooking School recently conducted in this city. These recipes will be published each day under the above heading until all of the recipes presented at that time have been used. Women of the city and county are invited to send in their favorite recipes and these will be published for the benefit of the other women of the community. If sufficient interest is manifested in the new department it will be continued indefinitely.

BREAKFASTS FOR FALL DAYS

By Barbara Brooks, Kellogg Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

The occasional fall is cold and dark and dreary at this time of year, but most of us associate fall with crisp air, warm sunshine, bright foliage and the dry, sweet fragrance of fallen leaves. These are the mornings when breakfast tastes good. We want something "under the vest" which will give a contented feeling before we go out to the day's work.

There are almost as many kinds of breakfasts as there are families in the world. The ideal morning meal includes foods which provide regulating and building material and fuel. The first may be supplied by fruit, whole grain cereals or bran. The second by eggs or meat and milk; the third by cereals, toast and butter. The important thing is to have a variety each day.

We saw a man eating breakfast in a restaurant not long ago. His choice was a double order of griddle cakes with butter and syrup and coffee. The cakes, butter and syrup all furnished fuel—but he had neither regulating nor building.

There are many interesting and healthful breakfast combinations, especially suitable for this time of year. In many parts of the country, cantaloup is still delicious. Apples are ripe for baking, stewing and sauce; oranges, grape fruit are with us and there is a long list of dried fruits.

Cereal either hot or cold is a good filler and carries its share of valuable milk with it. Oatmeal and Corn Flakes are always popular. For the main course, eggs hold first place, but they need not always be cooked the same way.

Replace toast with bran muffins occasionally. These can be mixed the night before. Fill muffin pans with the batter; cover them with oiled paper and bake them the next morning.

The following recipes are two of our favorites. We serve them on Sunday morning because we have more time on that day for cooking. The eggs and muffins can bake side by side in a moderate oven.

Fruit Bran Muffins
1 cup all-bran
2 cups flour
4 tsp. baking powder
1-2 tsp. salt
1-4 cup sugar
1 egg
1 cup milk
1-2 cup chopped raisins or prunes.
3 tbsps. melted shortening.

Mix all-bran with sifted dry ingredients and beaten egg, milk, fruit and shortening. Bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees F.) for about twenty-five minutes.

Baked Eggs
Butter individual baking dishes. Put one tablespoon of cream in each; add an egg. Season with salt and paprika. Bake in a moderate oven about fifteen minutes—until the egg is firm.

White Cake
1 cup sugar
1-2 cup butter
2-3 cup milk
2 cups flour
3 teaspoonfuls baking powder
Whites of 3 eggs
1 teaspoonful vanilla

Rolls Oats Cookies
1 cup sugar, 1 cup fat, 2 eggs, 4 tablespoonfuls milk, 1 cup cooked raisins, 3-4 teaspoon soda, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 1 teaspoon nutmeg, 1 teaspoon cloves, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 2 cups rolled oats, 2 cups flour. Drop from spoon and bake in quick oven.

UNCLE SAM ACTUAL BUSINESS PARTNER OF MOST INDUSTRIES

Pittsburgh, Pa., Nov. 4.—How Uncle Sam becomes the actual partner and the hardest and most efficient worker in most of the private industries of the country, was the note most strongly emphasized by the leading speakers at the convention of the Direct Mail Advertisers Association here yesterday.

But the most concrete and epigrammatic presentation of this fact was made by E. D. Gibbs, Advertising Director of The National Cash Register Company of Dayton, Ohio, who pointed out that Uncle Sam using every known means of transport, by rail, steamship, airplane, snowshoe and sled in the far north; horseback and bicycle in the rural districts, regardless of expense or danger, transports the messages of business all over the world at the cost of a postage stamp.

And then Mr. Gibbs let the postage stamp speak for itself thus:
I am LICKED before I start out,
yet I always deliver the goods.
I am STAMPED on at the beginning but never at the finish.
I always get in a CORNER and I start in by getting in a BOX but I find my way out.

I sometimes look like TWO CENTS but that doesn't lessen my importance.
I always have a HEAD on me but I keep it to myself.
I've got to be STUCK on something before I can do any work.
I'm just a little piece of paper with the seal of UNCLE SAM.
But the business world without me isn't worth a tinker's damn.

XENIA H. S. NOTES

At an assembly of the students of Central High Monday afternoon Principal Harper Pendry explained the various ballots and the offices which are to come before the pupils on election day in the nature of a straw vote which will be open to the students of both junior and central, Tuesday afternoon.

He also announced that Mr. Guill, famous imitator of birds and creatures of the wood, would entertain the high school students Tuesday afternoon. Mr. Guill gave his program before the Rotary Club at its luncheon Tuesday noon. He is considered one of the best in that line and his program is certain to interest the High School.

The first number of the Lyceum Course is to be given Thursday evening. Dr. S. Parkes Cadman will be the speaker. Dr. Cadman is known the world over for his wonderful ability as an orator and lecturer. He will also appear in Columbus before the Central Ohio Teachers' meeting to be held on Friday and Saturday, November 7 and 8. He is slated to be the principal speaker. There will be no school Friday much to the sorrow of the pupils.

The new Central High Orchestra under the direction of Mr. Whitworth will play at each number of the Lyceum course it is said. There are about fifteen pieces in the organization.

Wednesday afternoon a representative of the William Focke Sons Packing Company, will demonstrate the cutting and the choice of meats to the High School.

Besides softening water there is a use for CLIMALENE in all your cleaning tasks

CLIMALENE is a perfect water softener; and also a wonderfully efficient cleansing agent. In the dishwasher, for instance, without the aid of soap, Climalene cuts the grease and makes the dishes quickly shine.

Or put a teaspoonful of Climalene in a kettle of boiling water, and drop your tarnished silverware into it for five minutes. You will be astonished at the shining success. Further proof of Climalene's magic cleansing qualities.

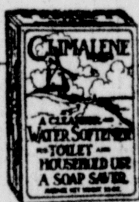

So everywhere Climalene is performing its twofold purpose of softening water instantly, perfectly, harmlessly; and of cleaning as well, whether it be dishes, fine fabrics, woodwork, tile, or the tender human skin.

Sold by all grocers in 12 oz. and 2 lb. packages.

"There is no substitute for Climalene"

Made by The Climalene Company, Canton, Ohio; also makers of Bowlene for Closet Bowls

CENTRAL HIGH WANTS HISTORY TO REPEAT IN GREENFIELD GAME

Central High School's game with Troy last Friday, although the result was not altogether pleasing to ardent followers of the game, brought several facts to light that may prove a benefit to the local aggregation in its remaining games, with Greenfield, Roosevelt, Wilmington and Washington C. H., namely, that Central has a passing attack, the strength of which was heretofore unknown, even to the team itself.

At frequent intervals throughout the disastrous Troy game Xenia uncorked an aerial attack, that, although not fruitful of results in the way of touchdowns, threatened Troy's goal line time and again, and this same passing game may prove to be the factor in possibly winning the game with Greenfield Friday afternoon at Cox Memorial Athletic Field.

Another factor that should prove a help to the overhead attack, is the fact that the locals are not handicapped by having but one player who can pass or receive a throw with equal accuracy. Towles, Spahr, Scurry, Holton and Boswell, are all well adept at this game, as was demonstrated in the Troy game.

Xenia has several triple threat men in the persons of Spahr, Holton, Towles and Scurry. Spahr, originally an end, can be shifted to either half or full if the occasion demands and is able to either kick, pass, receive a throw or run. The same holds true of Holton, Scurry and Towles as each possess that ability.

Central's gridders are making special efforts to be in the pink of condition for the Greenfield game Friday, as the locals have a winning record over Greenfield of long standing to maintain. In fact Greenfield has not triumphed over a local eleven in the past four years and with this fine record to maintain the locals are making every effort in practice to be ready for the traditional rivals Friday.

In spite of Xenia's poor showing on the gridiron this year, handicapped by injuries and a hard schedule, it will be remembered that the Central eleven last year had not won a game until Greenfield was met. Then it suddenly found itself and walked off the field with a 13 to 0 victory safely pocketed.

The stage is set for Xenia to repeat its performance of last year with Greenfield, and Coach John Ballantyne is giving his charges one of the hardest weeks of practice it has had this year, in an effort to have history repeat itself Friday.

Greenfield's strength on the gridiron this year is unknown, but it is said it is much stronger this year than in the past and is determined to hand Xenia its sixth straight setback of the season.

ATHLETICS WITHOUT GAME WHEN DAYTON TEAM LEAVES FIELD

The scheduled foot ball game between the East Side Athletics and the Burkham Excels, of Dayton Sunday afternoon at Dickenson Park was not played following a disagreement over whether the game should be played on a per cent basis, or the visiting team should receive a straight money guarantee, and as a result the money was returned to about one hundred disappointed fans at the gate.

According to Manager W. O. Rickman, of the Athletics, the Excels arrived at the park about fifteen minutes late, and after a few minutes practice, Rickman asked the Excels if they were ready to begin. Rickman declared that the Dayton manager called him across the field and said that his team would not play unless guaranteed $30 and would not play on a per cent basis as he had contracted.

Manager Rickman objected because of the short notice given the game, but declared that he would put the proposition to his team mates. During his talk with his team, in which it was decided to comply with the Excels' request, the Dayton aggregation walked off the field to their dressing room, and when the manager was asked for an explanation, he is said to have declared that four of his men had already left for Dayton, and refused to play with but seven men.

Manager Rickman has not contracted for a game with the Excels in the future, it was declared Monday.

LEGION AUXILIARY TO HOLD POPPY SALE

Saturday, November 8, has been set aside by the Legion Auxiliary of this city, as "Poppy Day" which is observed over the country annually.

The handmade scarlet flowers will be sold by the Girl Scouts and Camp Fire Girls during the day. The girls will visit the stores, business houses, and offices and will accept shoppers. The flowers will be sold for any sum over ten cents.

The proceeds of the poppy sale will be used by the Legion Auxiliary in its welfare department, for work among the disabled soldiers and their dependants and hospital work.

SHOUTING ALL THAT REMAINS IN CONFERENCE RACE THOUGH UPSETS ARE STILL POSSIBLE

Cleveland, Nov. 4—The shouting that remains at this stage of the Ohio Conference race, is all that is left of the contest. It's all over but that. However that self-same shouting or rather interpreted to be the questionable strength of already defeated teams may still upset an apparently decided race.

Oberlin and Ohio Wesleyan, the two survivors of a viciously contested field can each be beaten, but probably won't. The Congressionalsists meet the stronger opposition in Cincinnati and Miami. The Bear Cats always have a powerful but usually ineffectual eleven, which will be outsmarted by the Oberlin team. Miami, a traditional enemy, might turn the trick.

Ohio Wesleyan has still Ohio and Akron to defeat, with the latter scheduled to give the most resistance. A win over the Methodists will give Akron a successful season, despite all else for the rubber men's major triumph eliminated Wooster.

This week, the Oberlin-Cincinnati and Ohio Wesleyan-Akron games hold the center of the stage, not because of the approximated closeness of the contest, but because each leader might be defeated.

Coach McLaren's Cincinnati eleven with McAndrew as the star, has always been a driving outfit, which could accumulate a flock of first downs when they mean nothing and is unable to accomplish anything. However, Oberlin emerged from the Case victory slightly the worse for wear. It was a grueling game that exhausted each team and the congressionalists backs are not in the best condition. Then too, the affair is played at Cincinnati.

Wesleyan plays at home, and unless Akron can keep up a sustained attack, as well as a defense against passes, the Methodists will be a step nearer the championship.

Akron, however, has a capable eleven and has shown the ability to take advantage of the breaks in the game.

At Cleveland, Case meets Wooster. On the surface, this should mean a fairly easy Wooster victory, for the Scientists were badly battered last week and Captain Cribben, their offensive mainstay will be out of the game. Then too, Wooster's tie with Ohio State, has given Bole's outfit a semblance of class, newly obtained this year.

However, Case showed too much good football last week, to be counted out yet. With a fairly neat defense and a good looking attack, the Brown and White played with nice co-ordination and showed the effects of good coaching. The revival of Case through the medium of Coach Bob Fletcher with its consequent result, is probably the outstanding display in the Ohio Conference this year. Against Wooster, Fletcher hopes to be able to maintain his defense and also to stop the Wooster passes, the one weak spot in the Case defensive game, as shown at Oberlin.

Presenting perhaps, one of the best teams in the race, Ohio Northern meets Denison at Granville. Miami meets Western Reserve at Oxford. A victory over Oberlin the following week is the acme of Miami desire, but the Oxfordians still believe that a win over the Pioneers will help the cause. The red and white, with as good a line as there is in the conference and as bad a backfield, will be drilled on offensive play all week, with the hope that some sort of a successful attack may soon be obtained.

Unable to stand the gaff, of a terrific last quarter attack by Wesleyan, Wittenberg's host will start to work anew for the remaining games on the schedule. Muskingum comes next at Springfield. The consistent Muskies are again due for a trimming, having won their last game and Godfrey's team is eager to go the work.

St. Xavier's second conference game for the Saints, oppose Kenyon at Cincinnati. The Gambler lads apparently have a real team for the overwhelming of Mt. Union by a 20-0 score showed unexpected strength on both attack and defense. So far this season, the Catholics have appeared to be a rather bad outfit, but according to the Cincinnati headquarters, even a worm must turn at sometime.

At Otterbein, Heidelberg's team meets Otterbein and the United Brethren with a heavier squad should have little trouble. Neither has shown much, but the Otterbein squad has made more out of fewer opportunities.

Mt. Union still smarting under the Kenyon walloping, will follow the present custom of taking revenge upon the innocent Hiram eleven, which hasn't harmed any one and would even be meat for the proverbial fly.

But such is the schedule.

TOM PAPPAS WILL MEET BILL BROOKS IN EAGLES' MATCH

The Eagles are announcing another wrestling match to be staged at Eagle Hall Monday November 10. In the main go Tom Pappas will meet Bill Brooks of Wilmington in the best two out of three falls.

These two hooked up not long ago with the Wilmington man coming out on the long end. That night Pappas did not show very good form but this time he is promising the fans he will be in the pink of condition and will more than even things up with Brooks.

Brooks, a former Xenian, is plenty tough and will make Pappas or the best of them step to pin his shoulders to the mat. Brooks said that Pappas was easy and that he would wrestle him any time at any place. Pappas is confident that he can take Brooks.

measure and a hot match is bound to take place when these two clash. The rest of the card will be announced in a few days.

Any boys that want to be trained for wrestling can do so by handing in their names at Eagles Hall from now up until the time of the wrestling match and then arrangements will be made for them and dates set. Tom Pappas will probably be the instructor.

BOWLING ADDED TO LOCAL ATTRACTIONS

Bowling has been introduced in Xenia for the first time in ten years by A. L. Regan, proprietor of the Arcade billiard hall, South Detroit Street. Two alleys recently installed in the basement of the building will be operated in conjunction with the pocket billiard sport.

The installation work was begun three weeks ago, and the alleys were opened for the first time Friday afternoon. The alleys are of regulation size and are first class in every detail.

Mr. Regan formerly operated a lunch counter in the basement but recently decided to turn the space into a bowling alley, and moved the lunch counter to the main floor.

The formal opening of the alleys was held Monday evening, when a professional team of five bowlers from Springfield known as the Blue Birds, opposed a local team known as the Arcade team and beat the locals two games out of three.

The feature of the game was the first bowling of the Blue Birds in its first game when they knocked down 1023 pins, but fell down in the last two games and registered scores of 784 and 865. Xenia's team composed of Raymond Cox, anchor man, Roy Hayward, George Dodds, Arch Joffrey and A. L. Regan bowled games of 800, 866 and 744 taking the middle game by eighty-two pins.

Harmes bowled best for Springfield with 226 in the first game while Cox was high for Xenia with 192 in the first game.

Frequent matches will be held on the new alleys in the future.

APPLE DAY DRAWS INTEREST IN XENIA

Xenia groceries and fruit stores made special observance of "National Apple Day" Friday, with attractive displays of apples of all varieties.

The day was set aside this year for the first time, by the National Shippers' Association and plans were made for the observance of the occasion from coast to coast.

Some local stores made special sales of apples the attraction, and an unusually large number of apples were reported sold Friday and Saturday.

CHILDREN PREFER WASHING TEACHERS IN LUCAS CO. SAY

Tradition is shattered again. It isn't true that kids shun washing, even in part, more than anything else. That, at least, is what the teachers of three Lucas Schools have reported to home economics extension officials connected with the Ohio State University. It's this way: The teachers agreed to try to teach their pupils some fifteen health habits as a basis for lasting good health. The fifteen rules, or habits, were presented to the youngsters one at a time in five-minute talks once a week. Of the fifteen rules the teachers wanted to establish as habits, two were adopted by the children far more readily than any of the others. The two were: washing the hands before eating, and eating three meals a day without grumbling about the food. Washing the hands before eating was about the easiest habit to establish, the reports say. The three rules that were hardest to establish were these: Use milk instead of coffee or tea; eat cooked cereal for breakfast with not more than one teaspoonful of sugar; eat two vegetables other than potatoes and beans daily. This year seven schools in Lucas County will teach these fifteen health habits for a greater variety of vegetables in habits. They will emphasize the need of the daily diet, and the need for one hot dish at lunch each day.

BRINGING UP FATHER

The Truant Soul By Victor Rousseau

Joan remained where the buzzy had been. She realized that for the present she could get no help from Jenkins. He had seemed afraid, not for himself, but for Lancaster. What had Lancaster done, then, that he should be in the power of Myers? Had he embezzled the funds of the institute? The question was an absurd one. It was unbelievable that Lancaster should be a thief; besides, the explanation would not solve the problem at all. She went back to the verandah. She was resolved to reach the bottom of the mystery, for Lancaster's sake; to prove her loyalty although he had withdrawn his demand on her. As she reached the front door she was startled to hear her name spoken in the matron's room. The speaker was Myers. "She knows a good deal too much," Fraser was saying. "But she knows nothing at all," Mrs. Myers answered. "What do you suppose the doctor brought her here for, if not to try to publish his shame to the world?" "Aye, his shame," repeated the matron bitterly. "It's hard work for three people to try to hold up one man, without a fourth coming in." "Well, is that his game?" demanded the secretary. "Is it or isn't it?" "We want a nurse. You know we've often tried to get one, Mr. Myers, but they won't stay here. It's hard work taking care of the patients sometimes, when there's a rush." "Rush!" repeated Myers scornfully. "Who'd rush to this old place with the doctor's reputation?" "They do come, and the people trust him," said Mrs. Fraser, half crying. "Yes," scoffed the other. "And the doctor still has his grandiose ideas about building up the institution—him that wrecked it." "Well, that girl knows nothing, anyway." "I tell you she means to help the doctor in his crazy plan of notoriety. She means to undo all our work in his own interests," cried Myers vehemently. Joan walked away. She had overheard unwillingly, and enough to convince her that there was a mystery, with Myers at the bottom of it, and she had rightly sensed an enemy in him, and he in her. Now her mind was resolute to remain and fight for Lancaster. It was as if her decision, suddenly crystallized, had suddenly grown crystal-clear. But she had not passed the entrance when the matron's door swung open violently and Myers came out. He stood confronting Joan with his insulting leer. "Miss Wentworth," he began, "when you and I had our talk this morning you hadn't seen the doctor. You didn't know how things were situated, and I don't blame you. Now you've seen that the doctor needs a guardian. Well, I'm his guardian." "I do not think that Doctor Lancaster needs a guardian, Mr. Myers," answered Joan, facing him steadily. "See here, now, Miss Wentworth," said Myers, swallowing hard. "You don't get the drift of things, just as I thought. You think I'm trying to stand in the way of your work, when I'm only trying to reach a sort of working agreement to keep things in running order. That's my aim. Am I right?" "I don't know whether you are right. I think you are extremely un-civil. Take off your hat!" flashed Joan. Myers removed the hard hat from his head and stared at her in astonishment. He could not understand her sudden initiation of hostilities. "Well, I reckon that's my nature, and I'm sorry," he said. He was trying to be conciliatory now. "I'm sorry if I get on your nerves, Miss Wentworth," he persisted, "but I wasn't brought up to be a ladies' man. However, I know my job, and I reckon you know yours. If you think I'm trying to stand between the doctor and you, come and see him right now." "I have no complaint to make, and I have made none," said Joan. "Come and see him," persisted Myers. "You're the nurse, and I guess it's up to you." She looked at him, dismayed by his expression. "Is Doctor Lancaster worse?" she asked. "Well, nothing that I didn't expect, but he might be better," said Myers, sneering. He walked toward the door of Lancaster's room and opened it. Through the aperture Joan saw Lancaster stretched out in a large chair, his head bent forward on his breast, his limbs immobile. She hurried into the room. But Myers preceded her to Lancaster's side. He raised the limp arm and turned up the sleeve. Joan saw that the skin was densely scarred with tiny punctures. Lancaster was breathing heavily, and beside him, upon a little table, was a syringe, and near that a little bottle containing a few drops of a pale fluid. Joan drew in her breath quickly. It was what she had feared. "Morphine," said Myers. "He always does this when he comes home. Now you understand what I was trying to get at this morning, Miss Wentworth. I'm responsible for him. It's my job to keep him straight if I can. When I can't, I try. Now you see, perhaps, why he's lost his will power, and why I have to keep after him like a dog following his master. And I guess you won't think I'm trying to set him against you." (Continued Tomorrow)

EXPECT ARREST OF DYNAMITERS IN NILES CASE

Military Begins Probe Under Orders of Governor Donahey

Suspects Watched By Special Agents; Mayor Questioned

Niles, O., Nov. 4.—Arrests of those who dynamited the home of Mayor Harvey C. Kistler—the prelude of Saturday's rioting between klan and anti-klan forces here, which resulted in the proclamation of martial law, after thirteen persons had been wounded, was promised within a few hours by state secret service men who have been quietly at work assembling evidence since last Wednesday.

Several suspects are under surveillance. Governor Donahey had hopes of lifting the martial law from Niles before election but General Hough advised against it.

Niles, O., Nov. 4.—Complying with Governor Donahey's instructions, military officials here are conducting an investigation into the rioting in this city Saturday, in which 13 persons were injured.

The military board is under Major General Benson W. Hough and is seeking only testimony which will show inciting to riot or assault to wound or kill. Evidence uncovered will be turned over to the civil authorities for criminal prosecution.

County Prosecutor Harvey A. Burgess of Trumbull county was called into the state hearing. Officials asked that he be present during the questioning of witnesses.

Among the dozens of witnesses examined were Mayor H. C. Kistler, Sheriff John E. Thomas and deputy sheriffs and members of the police force. At least 50 arrests are expected in connection with the riots.

Sessions of the board are secret. Its report will be made to Governor Donahey and appropriate action, probably the presentation of evidence to a special grand jury will be recommended to Prosecutor H. A. Burgess of Trumbull county.

All blame for the riots is denied by the klan, in statements issued by Clyde W. Osborne, grand dragon of the klan in Ohio, after a conference with klan leaders at Youngstown, and by B. A. Hart, exalted cyclops, and W. H. Kline, manager of the Warren county klan, in a three-column advertisement in a Youngstown paper.

The alleged presence of Major Samuel Cole, head of the Akron detachment of troops, here at the conclave Saturday, and of other Ohio national guardsmen said to have been at the klan camp, will be investigated.

Rumors of another attempt to stage a klan parade prompted General Hough to declare there would be no parades of any kind as long as the troops were here. Spokesmen for the Knights of the Flaming Circle said that as long as the troops are here there will be no trouble. "We are just as determined, however, that the klan shall not stage a parade here," they added.

EXPECT MORE THAN TWO MILLION VOTES

Columbus, Nov. 4.—Campaign managers expect that more than 2,200,000 Ohioans will go to the polls today to register their preferences among the candidates for president and vice president, governor, congress and other elective offices.

Chairmen for the major parties have issued their final statements, claiming victory for their candidates by varying majorities. Although each candidate for governor is claiming the victory, the outcome is probably more in doubt than that for any other office. Most observers regard the contest as a "toss-up." Fight for the attorney generalship, between C. C. Crabbe, Republican incumbent, and Thomas H. Morrow, Democratic nominee, has been bitter, and this race is expected also to be close.

PLAGUE QUARANTINE ENFORCED BY GUARD

Los Angeles, Nov. 4.—An armed force patrolled the Mexican quarter here, enforcing a quarantine established to control the deadly pneumonic plague. Eight more victims over the week-end brought the death toll to 22, all of whom attended the funeral of Mrs. Lucy Samarano Oct. 19. Doctors believe she was the first victim of the plague and that all subsequent cases may be traced to this definite source of infection. Four additional patients are under treatment in general hospital, not expected to live. Health authorities believe the situation under control and do not expect it to spread outside the Mexican quarter.

Victims included two heroes of the plague, Father M. Brualia of Plaza church, who administered last rites to many of the dying, and Emmet McLaughlin, ambulance driver.

In two years she received $200,000 in royalties, one book paying her $30,000 a week for a few months.

CONDITION OF MRS. HARDING IMPROVES PHYSICIAN SAYS

Widow of President Passes
"Fairly Good Night"
Is Report

Marion, O., Nov. 4.—The condition of Mrs. Warren G. Harding, widow of President Harding was somewhat better this morning.

"She had a fairly good night last night," Dr. Carl W. Sawyer said. "She was restless up until about 1 a.m., then went to sleep and had anywhere from three to five hours sleep."

Dr. Sawyer has been in constant attendance.

He expressed considerable encouragement today over the improvement in the condition of Mrs. Harding, who is still quite seriously ill at her home at White Oaks farm.

Mrs. Harding slept several hours yesterday and rested much more easily last night. She also ate a more hearty breakfast this morning than she has been able to enjoy for several days. These are the best of reports, according to Dr. Sawyer, for the rest and the nourishment will materially aid her in resisting the complications that have been developed.

He said that while these have not subsided, her heart is holding up very well.

Mrs. Harding today was much more cheerful and displayed the keenest interest in news of today's political developments.

JULY CONSUMPTION OF GASOLINE HIGH

Washington, Nov. 4.—Reports on gasoline consumption in July, when consumption was the highest ever recorded, indicate the enormous volume of traffic on highways are now carrying.

The department of the interior reports that the domestic demand for gasoline during July was 794,030,852 gallons. The bureau estimates that at least 85 per cent of this amount was used for motor vehicles, and since 15,552,077 vehicles were registered on July, the average daily consumption was 1.4 gallons per vehicle.

Assuming that the average motor vehicle gets 14 miles per gallon of gasoline, the total daily mileage made by motor vehicles traveled a greater mileage than do all of the passenger trains in the United States in an entire year. The improved roads that have already been constructed must have saved motor owners millions of dollars in the matter of gasoline consumption alone.

Burned to Death.
Cincinnati, Nov. 4.—Burned while attempting to rescue her husband, Claude B. Snook, 68, who was burned to death in his home here, Mrs. Grace Snook, 61, is in serious condition. When she found he had not got away she tried to get back to him, was overcome with smoke and had to be carried out by neighbors.

RECORD VOTE BEING CAST FIGHTS FOR CONGRESS WARM

PARTIES CLAIM HOUSE CONTROL IN FUTURE BODY

Thirty Two Senate Seats
Under Contest In Tuesday Voting

Control Of House Much In
Doubt—Insurgents
Threatened

Washington, Nov. 4.—The course of the nation's legislative future in the 69th Congress, was at stake today in the battle of the polls between the forces of conservatism and laboratism for control of the United States senate.

With 32 seats under contest in today's election—Senator Fernald, Republican of Maine, having been re-elected in September, there was a possibility that the results would overthrow the balance of power held for the last two years by the LaFollette insurgent block. This phase of the senatorial election overshadowed the fight for "paper" majorities between the Republican and Democratic organizations. To end LaFollette's domination, the Republicans, however, would have to elect at least twenty of their organization candidates, while the Democrats to swing their party into undisputed control, would have to carry at least 3 of the contest shares.

Due to the seeming impossibility of a landslide victory of such proportions for either old party, indications pointed to a continuance of LaFollette's control in the next senate—even though his domination may not be as strong as in the present campaign campaign.

Spokesmen for both the old parties issued statements claiming a complete victory in today's elections. For the Republicans, Senator George H. Moses, chairman of the senatorial committee, predicted a sweeping victory for his party's candidates. He pointed out, however, that to win control the Republicans would have to defeat every Democratic nominee in the north, west and border states.

Senator Key Pittman, one of the Democratic managers, forecasts a Democratic senate. He declared the Democrats would win 24 of the contested seats.

Of the 3 seats at stake, sixteen have been held in the present senate by Republicans, 15 by Democrats and 1 by Magnus Johnson, the farmer-laborer of Minnesota. This has left the Republicans with 34 hold over Senators, including Fernald, the Democrats with 28 hold over members and one farmer-laborer, Senator Shipstead of Minnesota.

In today's election, nine Democratic candidates are in states of the solid south and their election has been conceded by the Republican managers. In this group are Senators Robinson, of Arkansas, Democratic leader; Simmons of North Carolina; Harrison of Mississippi; Glass of Virginia; Hoffman, Alabama; Harris, of Georgia; Randall of Louisiana; Sheppard, of Texas and Bleasoe, who succeeds Dial in South Carolina.

At the same time the Democrats concede the election of three Republicans, Senators Borah, Idaho, Norris, Nebraska and Brookhart, Iowa.

This throws the contest for control of the senate into the fights for the remaining twenty seats, of which 13 are held now by Republicans, six by Democrats in the north, west and border states, and one by the farmer-laborer Johnson in Minnesota.

New York, Nov. 4.—Political control of the new house of representatives for the sixty-ninth congress was in doubt today and the subject of much speculation as ballot boxes opened for the biennial selections of house members.

Republican and Democratic leaders, each claimed a working majority. The LaFollette managers insisted they would retain in the balance of power seized in the present house by their unbreakable group of sixteen.

Congressman Will R. Wood, Indiana, of the Republican congressional committee, placed no estimate on the straight Republican majority. Congressman Oldfield, Arkansas, who has directed the fight for his party nominees for the house, expressed confidence in a strong working majority.

LaFollette leaders said they were certain to hold their votes in Wisconsin and some northwest states and that they would gain others.

TOWN VOTES IN FIFTEEN MINUTES

New Ashford, Mass., Nov. 4.—New Ashford was first under the wire again today with its complete election returns. The polls opened at 6 a.m. Fifteen minutes later the vote was in. New Ashford gave twenty votes to Coolidge, four to Davis. Of the six remaining registered voters, two were ill and not voting, four were out of town.

Coolidge's ratio of five to one over the Davis bettered the late President Harding's 4-2-3 to one over the Democratic nominee four years ago, James M. Cox. Harding polled 28; Cox 6. Eight years ago Hughes' 16 to Wilson's 7, was a Republican Democratic ratio of 2-2-7 to 1, with twenty three voting.

In eight years therefore New Ashford made a clean gain of one vote. The voters got to the polls and had it over with today with astonishing alacrity, considering that there are no trolley cars in this town.

It has one church, a Methodist church—built with funds subscribed by public spirited citizens in the bar room of the town's ancient tavern. It was built in 1830.

The town also claims its bats are red-headed and its crickets lily white. That story got circulation when the tavern still separated its bar.

PHILIP L. JORDAN INSTANTLY KILLED WHEN STRUCK BY TRAIN IN RAILROAD YARDS HERE

Philadelphia Railroad, was killed in an accident near Columbus last December 7. Surviving are four sons. They are: Daniel, Pennsylvania railroad brakeman, with whom he made his home; Harry, who was associated with him in the plumbing business; John, a member of the Columbus Fire Department, and Mitchell, of Norwood.

The body was removed after the accident to the Ralph M. Neeld funeral parlors. Funeral services will be held Thursday afternoon at 1 o'clock at the home of his son, Harry Jordan, 313 South Whiteman Street, and burial will be made in Woodland Cemetery.

Friends may call at the home Wednesday evening after 6 o'clock.

FOREST FIRES ARE RAGING IN THREE STATES IS REPORT

Thousands of Acres of
Timber Destroyed In Flames.

New York, Nov. 4.—Thousands of acres of valuable timber have been destroyed by forest fires in New York, Pennsylvania and New Jersey. In New York and Pennsylvania hunting has been banned in parts of the states and every effort is being made to check the largest fires in the mountainous regions. The town of Suffern, N. Y., is still in danger, while a dozen fires continue to burn throughout the state.

In eastern Pennsylvania a score of fires are raging and an exclusive summer colony near Wilkesbarre was cut off for a time by the flames. Considerable damage has been done. Fires in New Jersey are more nearly under control, but the conservation commission is considering asking Governor Silzer to ban hunting. Dangerous fires are still burning in the northern part of the state.

ASK NO PARKING
FRONT OF SCREEN
The Gazette and Republican are asking co-operation of motorists in facilitating showing of election returns Tuesday night by not parking automobiles on the west side of the A. Moser shoe store and the Woolworth five and ten cent store, and on the east side of the street in front of the screen.

City officials have agreed to have police keep those sections clear of automobiles and their work will be aided if motorists remember to park in some other spot. The election returns will be thrown by stereopticon in the newspaper office on a screen in front of the building. People standing on the west side of the street can thus see the results if the parking space is kept clear of automobiles.

PARTY MANAGERS LIST ALL EXPENSES

Washington, Nov. 4.—The Republican campaign chest on Oct. 25 had received $3,251,471.69 in contributions and had disbursed $2,850,969.48, a formal report filed with the senate campaign funds committee showed. Democratic collections to Oct. 29 aggregated $604,253.19.

The last report received from the LaFollette-Wheeler organization showed total contributions of $171,812, but John M. Nelson, LaFollette's campaign manager, has testified to receipts of $245,000 up to Oct. 10.

The Socialist party reported that up to Oct. 27 receipts totaled $6,206 and expenditures $4,388. The Association Against the Prohibition Amendment reported total receipts of $15,235 and expenditures of $13,351 up to Oct. 31.

The Anti-Saloon League of America reported an expenditure of $677 in the five days between Oct. 25 and Oct. 31, while the prohibition national committee reported receipts of $6,239 and expenditures of $4,623 up to Oct. 27.

To Search For the Ericsson.
New York, Nov. 4.—The United States steamship Trenton sailed to search for the ship Leif Ericsson and the three adventurers, who last July fared forth from Bergen, Norway, to find a trail to the Norseman blazed across the Atlantic to Labrador 1,000 years ago. The quest was ordered by the navy department at Washington last Saturday, when the voyagers were 42 days overdue at Battle Harbor, Labrador. The Leif Ericsson last was heard from as she passed Julianshaab, Greenland.

Widowed Four Hours After Her Marriage.

MRS. D. C. PAQUETTE

Within four hours after she was married to Donald C. Paquette in an Albany, N. Y., hospital, Mrs. Paquette was a widow. Paquette's leg had been amputated by a railroad train. His fiancée was hastily summoned, legal technicalities sidetracked, and Father Looney performed the marriage ceremony.

COURT OF APPEALS REVERSES DECISION IN CASE OF WELTY

New Trial Ordered For Ex-Congressman Charged
With Fraud

Cincinnati, Nov. 4.—A new trial was ordered for Benjamin F. Welty, former congressman of Lima, O., in United States circuit court of appeals here. He was sentenced to one year in the Dayton workhouse and fined $500 in October, 1923, in Toledo after being found guilty of receiving $1,274.64 as a fee for collecting a war risk insurance claim. Welty was indicted in April, 1923, for charging and receiving this amount for furnishing and executing papers in the claim of Franklin R. Stayer of the bureau of war risk insurance. The law provides a $3 maximum fee.

Welty claimed that when he obtained compensation for the disabled soldier he never received any fee nor asked for any. The money paid him, he claimed, was for attorney's fees and expenses incurred in settling a claim made by the soldier's father whom he represented.

The decision of the court of appeals remands the case to the federal district court at Toledo, where Judge Paul Jones of Youngstown last winter sentenced the former congressman to serve a year in the Dayton workhouse.

In addition to the sentence other phases of the case are affected by the reversal. Welty challenged the validity of legal limits on attorneys' fees, and two of his main contentions were that he had not charged the veteran anything and that his bill of more than $1,200 was chiefly for expenses on trips to Washington, which the boy's father had agreed to pay. The claimant in the case was the boy's father, who sought to obtain from the government reimbursement for money spent on the boy. His contention was that the veterans' bureau should have paid for care of the youth.

Welty served in congress from the Fourth district from 1917 to 1921 and was the Democratic nominee in 1920, but was defeated by John L. Cable.

Martial Law Not Lifted.
Columbus, Nov. 4.—Governor Donahey stated that martial law at Niles will not be lifted for several days. Although reluctant to keep the city under military control election day, the governor was assured by Major General Benson W. Hough that it would be unwise to remove the troops at this time. What action will be taken by the governor regarding Mayor Kistler and Sheriff Thomas was not indicated. The mayor was suspended automatically from a portion of the duties of his office when martial law was declared. Whether he actually will be suspended depends on what information Governor Donahey receives from General Hough and the governor's special investigators in Niles.

Peace Parley in China.
Tien Tsin, Nov. 4.—Fighting ceased amid peace negotiations between Feng Yu Hsiang and Wu Pei Fu. The latter is considered defeated. Reports from Mukden said that Chang Tao Lin, having crushed a Chi Li army at Shan Hai Kwan, is preparing to send three divisions to Tien Tsin to help finish off Wu. This may have hastened the latter's decision to capitulate.

VOTERS FLOCK TO POLLS IN ALL SECTIONS U. S.

Reports Received By Managers Show Big Vote On Tap.

Republicans and Democrats Express Confidence In Results

Cleveland, Nov. 4.—With polls in Ohio open at 5:30 central standard time, a record vote has been reported during the morning hours in many Ohio cities. Office and factory workers for the most part voted before leaving for work and in some precincts in Cleveland and suburbs more than half the vote had been recorded by nine o'clock according to reports to the board of elections.

With a heavy vote being cast for Senator LaFollette in the big industrial centers, both Democrats and Republicans expressed confidence in the outcome on the state ticket. Partisans of Governor Donahey professed to see indications of a landslide in his favor, while supporters of former Gov. Davis freely predicted today that he would leave the boundaries of Cuyahoga county with a plurality that might reach 50,000 or 60,000 votes over his opponent—far more than enough, they said to overcome any rural plurality. Donahey in view of the likelihood of majorities in Hamilton, Mahoning and other downstate counties.

Outside of the presidential and state wide races interest centered in the personnel of the next congressional election. At present Ohio is represented by sixteen Republicans and six Democrats. Republicans profess confidence in retaining all districts now represented by them and adding several more to the list, including the Cleveland districts represented by Congressmen Mooney and Cresser. Democrats see a chance to gain seats in the third, fourth, fifth, sixth, eighth, twelfth, thirteenth and seventeenth districts, with an outside chance in the 18th, where Mrs. rhoe Sutcliffe, the only woman candidate against B. Frank Murphy of Steubenville.

Washington, Nov. 4.—Reports received up to noon at Republican, Democratic and independent headquarters here indicate that the nation will cast the largest vote in its history today.

Every power of the big national organizations of each party is being directed to get out the vote. District managers were informed by wire of the necessity of devoting the entire day to appeals to citizens at all hazards to register their sentiments at the polls between dawn and sundown. President Coolidge and John W. Davis, his Democratic opponent, delivered radio addresses last night, but their chief concern was the appeal to citizens to vote.

A balance of power will remain with the Progressives in the next two years in the senate, of which one-third of the total membership of 96 is to be elected today, and probably in the house, of which the entire membership of 435 is up for re-election. The present congress, the Sixty-eighth, has one more short session, beginning in December, and will pass out of existence March 4, replaced by the Sixty-ninth congress, which the people today will elect to succeed it.

In the congressional campaign a unique phase is the scrapping of old party lines in many of the contests, as a result of endorsements by the elements supporting the presidential candidacy of Senator Robert M. LaFollette. Instead of creating a congressional ticket of its own, the LaFollette movement has endorsed and is trying to help elect candidates wearing the old party labels who meet its requirements, as well as a handful of independents running on tickets other than the Democratic and Republican. The great bulk of the house and senate candidates so endorsed is composed of Democrats.

As a result of the invasion of old party lines by LaFollette endorsements in the house contests, the chances favor, first, a Democratic house; or, secondly, a house with a Republican majority on paper, but without actual Republican control.

President Coolidge will remain at work in the white house all day, having sent his ballot by mail to his home voting precinct in Northampton, Mass. Davis is at his home on Long Island, and Senator LaFollette, the third entry in the race, is at Madison, Wis.

The LaFollette managers again declared that a "great victory for the progressive cause" was in sight. They insisted that whatever the outcome of today's voting, the independent group had established itself as a permanent factor in American politics, which ultimately must force a reconstruction of party lines.

CHARLES BRAND MAY SUCCEED WALLACE

Washington, Nov. 4.—The agricultural organizations asked by President Coolidge to submit the names of men whose appointment as secretary of agriculture would be satisfactory to them have already begun to compile it was announced at the White House. The following names have been received:

Louis J. Tabor, Columbus, O., master of the national grange; Charles Marsh, Litchfield, Mass.; John Fields, Oklahoma City, editor of the Oklahoma Farmer; Samuel Adams, Illinois, former president of the Agriculture Editor Association; E. E. Fayville, Portland, Ore., editor of the Western Farmer; Herbert Myrie, Springfield, Mass., editor of several farm publications; Frank O. Lowden, former governor of Illinois; Charles H. Brand, C. W. Pugsley, president of the South Dakota Agricultural college and former assistant secretary of agriculture.

INFANT GRANDSON OF XENIANS DIES

Richard Coleman, the five months old son of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Howard (Martha Finley) of Delaware, died suddenly Tuesday morning, according to word received by Mrs. Howard's parents, Dr. and Mrs. W. H. Finley.

The cause of the child's death was not known. The baby had appeared in good health and was found dead in his crib early Tuesday morning.

Dr. and Mrs. Finley spent the week end with their son-in-law and daughter, and just returned Monday. They left Tuesday morning for Delaware on receipt of word of the child's death.

FIRE CHIEF WILL PROBE COLP FIRE

Fire Chief T. B. Claire announced Tuesday that he may conduct an investigation of the circumstances surrounding the fire early Sunday morning at the Xenia Supply Company on South Detroit Street, which destroyed a large warehouse and contents, including a loss of approximately $3,000, part of which is covered by insurance.

Chief Claire intimated that the appearance of the fire, when the department arrived led both him and the owner of the property, Isaac Colp, to believe that the warehouse had been deliberately set afire, because it was noticed that the frame structure was not burning one particular spot, but the flames appeared to be springing up from all corners and in the middle.

Fireman continued to play a stream of water upon the ruins all day Monday, and a squad of men was set at work tearing down the remainder of the warehouse.

ABSENT VOTERS NUMBER 171 HERE

A complete tabulation of the absent ballots vote, by the Board of Elections, Saturday showed that a total of 171 citizens who expected to be away from the city on election day had availed themselves of the right to vote.

The time limit for the absent ballot expired Saturday night, and it was noticed that more votes were cast on the last day than on any other previous day.

It is not known whether the absent ballot vote during the election year exceeded any previous vote, but it is believed that the total number of votes this year is about the average.

LIBRARIAN WILL SPEAK IN XENIA

Herbert Hershberg, Columbus, state librarian, will address members of the Greene County Library Board and the County Commissioners, in the commissioners' office in the Court House, Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Mr. Hershberg will discuss county library affairs and other matters of interest to local officials.

FIREMEN CALLED AS GRASS IGNITES

A small grass fire, thought to have originated from sparks from a passing train, occurred in P. H. Flynn's field on the Springfield Pike about 3:15 Monday afternoon, but was extinguished without damage.

This was the third fire that has occurred in fields lying adjacent to the railroad track on North Detroit Street within the past two weeks. All fires were attributed to sparks from passing trains.

GIVES PAPER

Dr. F. W. Stanton, pastor of the First M. E. Church gave a review of Dr. Charles Jefferson's book, "Quiet Hints to Growing Preachers," at the meeting of the Xenia Ministerial Association, in the study of Second U. P. Church, Tuesday morning.

Dr. Stanton's paper was the only feature of the meeting.

EAST END NEWS

Miss Lois Raymond, of East Second Street, left Thursday evening for Chicago, where she will take up nurses' training.

Mrs. Helen Kendall and daughter Betty, of Dayton are the guests of Mrs. Elizabeth Raymond, of East Second Street.

The Effie Carter W. C. T. U. will meet Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Ferina Booth of East Church Street at 2 o'clock.

A large gathering at the K. K. K. Tabernacle, Sunday afternoon, heard the address on "Christian Citizenship" by the Rev. A. J. Furstenberger.

"The Old Rugged Cross" was sung by Mrs. Bess Wolf. Music was furnished by the Elmer orchestra.

COOLIDGE COOLY CONFIDENT WHILE VOTERS DECIDE HIS POLITICAL FATE IN BALLOTING

Washington, Nov. 4.—With millions of citizens determining his political fate at the polls today, President Coolidge today was unconcerned going through the mechanical routine at the White House Tuesday.

The result of today's election is a foregone conclusion with the president. He already has stated publicly that he expects to maintain the White House as his residence for an additional four years, and he has merely an academic interest in the size of the majority he expects to poll over John W. Davis and Robert M. La Follette.

As is usual on Tuesday's immediately after breakfast, the president went into conference with General Lord, chief of the budget bureau. The work of formulating the federal budget recommendation to congress is now at its height and Mr. Coolidge spent over half an hour in consultation with his financial aid. The budget conference was followed by the regular Tuesday cabinet meeting—although with fully half of the cabinet out of the city to vote, the meeting was rather perfunctory.

Mr. Coolidge formally ended his campaign last night when over the radio he urged every citizen to go to the polls "in the spirit that they would approach a sacrament" and vote "solely in the light of their own conscience." He went further, however, in his final speech and lashed out for the last time at the minorities figuring in the campaign ended today.

"We shall always have with us an element of discontent, an element inspired with more zeal than knowledge," he told his radio audience.

"They will always be active and energetic and they seldom fail to vote on election day. But the people at large in this country are not represented by them. They are greatly in the minority. But their number is large enough to be a decisive factor in many elections, unless it is offset by the sober second thought of the people who have something at stake, whether it be earnings from investments or from employment, who are considering not only their own welfare, but the welfare of their children and of coming generations."

"Our institutions never contemplated that the conduct of this country, the direction of its affairs, the adoption of its policies, the maintenance of its principles should be decided by a minority moved in part by self interest and prejudice."

BIG VOTE RECORDED IN GREENE COUNTY

Indications at Xenia polls Tuesday were that a record vote would be cast in Greene County.

Officials at voting places within the city reported early that a much larger vote than usual for that time of day, was being recorded.

Many important issues in the campaign, including the fact this is a presidential year, are believed responsible for cheating unusual interest and resulting in a huge vote being cast.

TROOPS ORDERED TO HERRIN AS TROUBLE AGAIN THREATENS

Carbondale, Ill., Nov. 4.—Headquarters Company of the 38th regiment, Illinois National Guard, of Carbondale, received orders this noon to mobilize and proceed at once to Herrin and Marion, Williamson County.

Reports were current here that the troops were ordered out on strong indications of trouble in Williamson County.

According to reports here a large number of gangsters have poured into Herrin today.

Feeling here and at other southern Illinois points was tense today owing to the mysterious distribution since Sunday of thousands of large folders, savagely attacking President Coolidge and Governor Len Small. One of the posters depicted Governor Small being led through southern Illinois by S. Glenn Young, Williamson County Klan leader.

Herrin, Ill., Nov. 4.—H. Glenn Young, leader of the Williamson County Ku Klux Klan, clashed this noon with special United States Marshal Jeffrey at one of the polls here.

Young, according to reports ordered Jeffrey away from the polling place. A tense situation has been created as a result, according to reports County authorities were said to have asked for more troops.

FRATERNITY MOVES TO NEW QUARTERS

Beta Beta Chapter, Phi Delta Kappa Fraternity, has moved to new rooms over the Buckeye Press, West Main Street, where handsome quarters for the local chapter have been fitted out. The suite consists of a lounging and reading room, card room and kitchen.

The initial meeting of the chapter in the new quarters was held Monday night with a large representation of fraternity brothers. Plans were made for local and national expansion in the organization. The local chapter is planning to stage an affair soon.

LABOR CABINET IN ENGLAND RESIGNS

London, Nov. 4.—England's first labor-socialist government passed out of existence this evening. Premier Ramsay MacDonald went to Buckingham palace and tendered the resignation of himself and his colleagues to King George and they were immediately accepted.

Mrs. C. L. Babb, of South King St., and Mrs. R. R. Grieve, of West Market Street, have returned from Pittsburgh, Pa., where they were at the bedside of their sister, Mrs. Charlotte C. Lust. Mrs. Lust passed away last week.

Mrs. O. T. Coblenz, of the Brush Road, is confined to her home by illness. She was taken ill Monday afternoon.

Mrs. George Slagle of Chestnut St., returned home from New York last Thursday morning, where she has been visiting friends for several weeks.

Mrs. Susie King, nurse at the Tuberculosis Hospital, Columbus, Ohio, was the guest of her mother, Mrs. Anna King, of Leaman Street, Monday evening.

CHILD STRUCK BY AUTO UNINJURED

Two small girls, daughters of Mrs. Ella Lorimer, North King Street, miraculously escaped serious injury Monday afternoon about 5 o'clock when a Ford Coupe, owned and driven by Edward Davidson, West Church Street, going south on North Detroit Street, hit the smaller of the two girls as they ran in front of the machine, knocking her down.

Davidson was driving on the right hand side of the street, and because of a parked automobile was unable to see the children, who ran unexpectedly across the street. The older girl got by safely but her smaller sister was struck, and knocked beneath the machine which passed over her.

She was uninjured except for several minor bruises, and after being taken to her home, went to school Tuesday morning.

VICTORY PREDICTED BY CARMi THOMPSON

That a big vote in Ohio Republican precincts forecasts a big Republican victory, is the substance of a telegram received by George Little, of this city, from Carmi A. Thompson, Cleveland, Republican candidate for governor two years ago.

The telegram says: "Big vote in Republican precincts Cuyahoga County, also throughout state, indicates big Republican victory tonight." The wire was sent after 11 o'clock Tuesday morning when early voting indicated a big vote would be cast.

Eminent European specialist, Dr. Ciamelli, says, "If underweight, worn-out, or run-down, follow this advice; and watch results."

It is not what you eat or how much you eat but insufficient gland action (due to advancing years, overwork, sickness, or worry) that makes you flabby, bony, and scrawny looking. Worn out, dried up glands make it impossible to form flesh and strength. Yet many people who eat less have good firm flesh, normal weight, and are full of life and energy because their glands are now working full force. Formerly the recognized power of fresh organic glands to put on flesh that stays firm, and makes nervous, anaemic folks strong and even tempered, was confined to rich people. But now everyone who has tried doctoring with ordinary tonics and medicines can purchase a combination of pure organic glands, phosphates (for the NERVES) and iron (for the blood) for a few cents at any drug store merely asking for Kath. This Kath is known to rebuild exhausted glands without the use of drugs.

Make This Test:
First weigh and measure yourself. Next take the small tablets of glands, roots and herbs (as found in Kath). Then weigh and measure yourself every 5 days and continue taking Kath until you are satisfied with your gain in weight and energy. The scientist who has discovered Kath has agreed to supply it with the understanding that if you are not completely satisfied with results the entire purchase price will be refunded by the druggist from whom you buy it.

A Judge's Comment

In recently rendering a decision in one of the cases growing out of "Ponzi's" exploit, Federal Judge Anderson of Boston, is quoted as saying:

"There are no greater fools in the world than the investing public. Ponzi will shortly return to the financial field with a new scheme and the public, with the same old mob psychology, will turn to him again with their hard-earned savings."

Observations like this, coming from men in high places with the lessons to be gotten from the present train of disasters resulting from quick-rich promotions, should be sufficient to put the public on their guard.

Let us give you 6 per cent and peace of mind. Our methods have been tried for 50 years and in that time have not been found wanting.

WHERE DID CAIN GET HIS WIFE

One Frank R. Shipman in The Christian Century, propounds a question which is a severe test of any man's biblical knowledge. Asks he: "Where did Cain get his wife?"

The Bible says that, until Adam, "there was not a man to till the ground" and that Eve was "the mother of all living." Now the only recorded children of Adam and Eve are Cain and Abel. Cain slew Abel.

Mr. Shipman offers the following possible theories to explain the perpetuation of the human race:

(1) Cain's wife was made, like Adam, from the dust or, like Eve, from her husband's rib. But Mr. Shipman "would see something grotesque in the idea of a Cain brought up through babyhood, childhood and youth to meet a ready-made bride."

(2) Eve may have had many daughters unmentioned in the Bible. But "for many years the human mind has shrunk sensitively away from the idea of confusing the beautiful relation of brother and sister with the other relation of husband and wife."

(3) The "original autograph" theory—i. e., the Bible as originally dictated by God, contained no mistakes and no hiatus, but parts of it have been lost in transmission. But, says Mr. Shipman, "to conclude that the original autograph was perfect and entire, lacking nothing of being absolutely correct astronomy, geology, zoology, geography, biology, ethnography—constitutes a leap in literary supposition for which no one can give any reason."

(4) Both the Adam-Eve story and the Cain story were ancient folk-tales brought together for certain literary and moral purposes, but without any idea that they should constitute an infallible chapter and an infallible book. "To such a reader (i. e., one who sees the book of Genesis in this light) it does not matter where Cain got his wife."

Why did Mr. Shipman write this article? It was not satire. It was not research. It was not irreverence. On the contrary, it was a reverent parable which endeavored to explain how a man could be a Christian without taking the Bible literally from Genesis to Revelations.—Time.

ACTUAL PROGRESS IN LAW ENFORCEMENT

It must be admitted that it is not always wise to accept the estimate of one who proposes to accomplish great things as to what he can or will do, but it is equally true that if one desires to learn what progress a pupil is making in school he asks the teacher or if he feels particularly solicitous regarding the condition of one who has committed himself to the care of a doctor he asks the doctor. One would not go to a blacksmith to inquire regarding either of these, or to a banker or lawyer to advise how the status of either of them might be improved.

So it seems entirely proper that those who sincerely desire to learn of the progress being made in enforcing the law forbidding the manufacture or sale of intoxicating beverages in the United States should inquire of those whose business it is to supervise and direct the efforts being made to enforce that law. Mr. Roy A. Haynes, who occupies the position of Prohibition Commissioner in Washington, has recently declared that there is now noticeable, a great improvement in enforcement conditions, the direct result of improved co-operation between federal and local authorities, the imposition of jail sentences instead of fines for violators, and the general use of the padlock in closing and keeping closed the places where these liquors have been illegally dispensed.

One thing has been apparent for some time to those who have had an opportunity to observe existing conditions. It is that the gradual drying up of domestic sources of supply has driven the bootleggers to depend almost entirely upon liquors smuggled in from ships along the seacoasts. Now with the proved ability of the revenue cutters to shut off this supply, there is bound to be a lessening in the number of offenses.

THREE-CORNERED POLITICS

One reason why the United States has been able to accomplish what it has is that we were a united nation, as the name implies. While the nation is made up of states, each having its own laws within reasonable limits, there is a bond combining all the people in one great commonwealth. Americans take their politics pretty hard while the campaign is on, but they do not make the mistake of making politics their chief object in life as the people of some other countries do.

Americans are willing to abide by the will of the majority, or something like it, and after the election result is announced they go back to their regular daily life. By having two political parties and making one work against the other they have been able to keep a certain control over their government. Third parties have bobbed up from time to time but they have not lasted long. The hope is that the voters will realize their responsibilities and make their votes show where they stand, so that the result may be decisive and the nation may have the benefit of a government at Washington which has a real mandate, one way or another. Three-cornered politics cannot survive; it would be a curse to this nation or any other that permitted it. Let's have two great divisions of the people, so that the voter can make his vote "Yes" or "No" and we may not be afflicted with a non-committal and irresponsible government.

THINKERS ALL

You can't find out what a fellow thinks
Where the slag comes up and the metal sinks
In the cupola of a foundry's gloom;
You can't get his thoughts in the crowded room
And the clang and stir of a factory grim;
Then life is too busy and swift for him
To do more than saunter at the dirt and heat;
You can't read his mind on the busy street,
You must wait till you get him somewhere alone,
Then he'll make his dreams and his fancies known.

They are merely men as they walk to work,
Mechanic and foreman and drudge and clerk
Laughing or frowning, or sad or gay,
Merely a throng as they go their way;
But each of them's bringing a thought to bloom.

Which you never will see in a factory's gloom;
Never from seven to five you'll find
The nobler side of the toiler's mind;
But somewhere away from the world's harsh tone
He'll tell what he thinks when he's all alone.

Out in the woods, by stream or hill,
When the stars come out and the night is still,
He will turn to you and he'll whisper low
Of the thousand things which he wants to know;
He'll utter his faith in a simple way,
He'll tell what he says when he kneels to pray,
He'll talk of eternal joys to be—
Oh, a different sort of man you'll see
Than the toiler grim in the furnace hole
When you get him alone and he bares his soul.

Mother: "How can I sterilize my children's toothbrushes?"

Answer: Ordinary table salt is an excellent sterilizer for toothbrushes. Many housekeepers keep a kitchen salt cellar in the bathroom for this purpose. Just shake a little on the brushes, now and then, and lay in the sun, then wash well. Soaking toothbrushes in denatured alcohol will also sterilize them.

Mrs. E. L.: "How can olive oil be removed from a hardwood floor?"
Answer: With either gasoline or kerosene. But take care not to use these fluids near heat or flame.
Daisy: "I have washed a white tablecloth with yellow chamois, and the yellow has run into the white. What can be done?"
Answer: As the yellow is dye, it is hopeless to try to remove it from the white part of the tablecloth. The only thing you can do now is to bleach it all, so that the yellow will be white. Do this with Javelle Water, which you can buy at any drugstore. Follow directions on the bottle. I cannot promise perfect results, but it is worth trying. White tablecloths are expensive, these days, and the bottle of Javelle Water will not cost much.

Mrs. H.: "I have a stove with the kind of top which is not supposed to be polished. How is it cleaned?"
Answer: When the fire is out, clean it by rubbing with a little kerosene oil. This will also remove rust from a stove.
High School Girl: "A relative has given me a beautiful pewter plate. How can I clean it?"
Answer: Only the finest abrasives should be used on pewter to avoid scratching the metal. The finest grade of steel wool, moistened with linseed oil, may be used. Or apply powdered rottenstone with a flannel cloth which is wet with a mixture of equal parts of linseed oil and turpentine. Finish by washing in hot soapsuds, wipe dry, and give a polish with chamois or soft

Today's Talks

LISTEN!

You will always learn ten times as much listening as by talking.

There is this great advantage: When you listen you can think at the same time. You can have your own opinion and it will be refined and enlarged as you listen.

When you talk there is the chance that you will pay too much attention to the sound of what you say and not enough to the meaning of what you say.

And do not say too much when you do talk. Much real thought goes a long way.

The other day I listened to a noted man at a dinner. If he had cut his speech in half it would have been the "hit" of the evening. As it was, he spoiled his triumph during the first half by growing stale during the last half.

After the dinner was over I asked the speaker's manager why he had talked so long and he said that he had to earn his fee which was a very large one. I replied that he earned it amply when he was half through.

A large part of my knowledge, such as it is, I attribute to listening: on trains, in barber shops, at luncheon tables, at gatherings on the street, in hotel lobbies.

When I was working my way through college I was night clerk in a small hotel. And to paraphrase Mr. Kipling: I learned much about men while there. I used to sit by the big fire and just listen.

Listening is like reading an interesting book. You can kindle the fires of your imagination and add as much fuel as you like.

And I think it a splendid idea to keep your opinions to yourself, unless you are asked to express them, or have something to say that will add to meritorious thought.

The best way I know of to become a good talker is to be a good listener!

LESSON NO. 2

THE PROPER USE OF LIGHT

HOW WE SEE

Objects are seen by the light that falls upon them and is reflected to our eyes. A dark object reflects but little of the light that falls upon it—perhaps less than one-fourth; a light colored object reflects a large part of the light—perhaps three-quarters.

If we are to see objects, the light must fall upon them and be reflected from them. The more darkly they are colored, the more light is needed to enable us to see them. The light that falls on objects which we wish to see may be termed useful light. Most electric lamp bulbs when used without shades or reflectors throw out light in all directions—just as much to the ceiling and walls of a room as down to the table top. Well designed shades are made so that they not only soften the light, but also reflect some light that would otherwise be wasted and direct it downward and outward to the objects that we wish to see.

GLOOM

Proper lighting requires two things: First, that there be enough light so that the eye can see quickly and easily; and second, that this light be shaded and so placed in the room that the eye is not strained by glare. Many homes have soft, shaded light that is too dim for good vision; others have enough light but harmful glare is a part of it; too few homes have plenty of light without glare, which is necessary for proper lighting and the protection of eyesight.

The eye is truly a wonderful organ. Because it does not always immediately complain, we often make it work under great difficulty, and strain it.

Have you ever stopped reading because of a feeling of discomfort? You have a headache without any reason for it that you can think of, or your eyes feel tired, or you find that you cannot fix your attention on your book or paper. You may find later that these are signs you were straining your eyes.

We can see under a dim light, but we can see more easily and more quickly if we have more light. When we live day after day with too little light, we are likely to find that our eyesight is affected, and that we may need glasses. Then we know we have strained our eyes until they cannot do their work without help.

DECORATE WITH LIGHT

Up to this point we have thought of lighting only as it helps us to see easily—in other words, as it is useful. Of course, this is very important in every room in the home, and everywhere else. But when we light our home, we want the lighting to make each room pleasant and attractive, and our lighting, except for the work rooms (the kitchen, the laundry, the basement and attic), should be as much of a decoration or ornament as the pictures and rugs and curtains.

Lighting equipment may be ornamental and decorative, and at the same time it can be made in such a way that it will properly light the room. Much of the lighting equipment in use today can be greatly improved by using shades that are longer, so that the bulb is completely hidden from the eye and denser, so that no extremely bright spot appears in the center of them.

A FEW CAUTIONS

Here are a few cautions that will help you protect your eyes:

Don't judge the amount of light in a room by the brightness of the bare, unshaded bulbs. That is the indication of glare.

Don't expose your eyes to unshaded lights. That may cause eyestrain.

Don't read while facing a bright light or a sunny window. Have the light come from beside you or over your shoulder.

Don't use bright lights against a dark background.

Don't try to read in a dim light that tires your eyes.

Don't let your lighting equipment get dirty. Clean it regularly. Dust and dirt may cause you to lose as much as one-half or even three-fifths of the light that the bulbs produce and that you are paying for.

Don't depend on taking out light bulbs to connect appliances and portable lamps. Have convenience outlets put in for this purpose.

Don't be indifferent to the preservation of your eyesight.

REPUBLICAN MEET AT THIRD BAPTIST CHURCH ENDS DRIVE

The closing campaign rally for Republican colored voters in Greene County and incidentally the closing rally in the County before election was held Monday night at the third Baptist Church and was attended by a large and enthusiastic audience. Speeches by the Rev. A. W. Pueller, who delivered the principal address, Fred D. Patterson, Greenfield, O., manufacturer and Miss Ellen Barnes, Oberlin, featured the rally.

The talk by the first speaker, Miss Barnes was short, but filled with interest. Miss Barnes, directed her remarks to the women, in a plea to "get out the vote", and narrated the many past achievements of the Republican party.

The address by Fred D. Patterson was also of much interest. Mr. Patterson, gave a view of the political situation from a business man's standpoint, but expressed the opinion that every voter should be independent of party affiliations.

The address of the Rev. A. W. Pueller was the principal feature of the meeting. The Rev. Pueller was a former pastor of the church. He was a Washington, attended, and well versed on leading political questions. The Rev. Pueller told something of his biography, and delivered a masterly plea in behalf of the Republican party, declaring that it was the duty of every colored citizen to support that party in view of the numberless past G. O. P. achievements and accomplishments for the good of the colored race.

Dr. H. R. Hawkins, of this city, presided at the meeting as chairman and introduced the speakers. A local band furnished the music.

The afternoon meeting, which was to have been held at Wilberforce University was not held, as arrangements could not be completed in the short time allotted.

RED CROSS WORKERS PREPARE FOR DRIVE TO START NEXT WEEK

Plans are being completed for the Eighth Annual Red Cross Roll Call in Xenia City. Chairmen are urged to notify their solicitors as soon as possible and report their names to the Red Cross office, Thursday.

Tuesday, November 11, Armistice Day, is set aside for the Roll Call all over the United States.

A meeting of the Red Cross Roll Call workers in Bath Township was held Monday in Fairfield. Mrs. George Warner of Osborn and Mrs. Roscoe Rockfield of Fairfield are the chairmen in Bath Township.

Two hundred and one children in the Bath Township schools were inspected by the Red Cross nurse last year and follow-up calls made on some of the parents.

Two crippled children attended the clinics. One received full correction. The child moved from county so the case was referred to a State Welfare worker in the new home who will see that further treatment is given if it should be necessary. In one other case correction was completed. In two other cases correction was not made. The Red Cross nurse accompanied a state worker to their homes to interest parents in hope of having them come to the clinic for examination thus gaining their interest and co-operation.

Two crippled children needed tonsil and adenoid operations but condition of child did not warrant same when examined by doctor. Three children were cared for at the clinic from Bath Township.

One school child was examined at the chest clinic. Advice was given in several families on care and prevention of the disease and one child was taken to doctor for chest examination. Three children were taken to a doctor for examination at the request of the state welfare department. Two children were brought to Xenia to have eyes tested brought to first, financed by parents.

One case of cruelty to a child was reported. The secretary accompanied a state worker to home of the crippled adult to see if he could learn some trade. A visit was made on a man at infirmary from Bath Township for the same purpose. Neither were in condition to take up work. Two calls were made on a soldier who owed money to Red Cross in another county. Several calls on soldiers who had returned from hospitals and on men receiving government care. The aim of the Red Cross is to help people to help themselves.

FORMER GREENE COUNTIAN IS DEAD

Mrs. M. J. Van Eaton, widow of Joseph B. Van Eaton, formerly of Greene County, passed away at her residence in Dayton, Monday evening according to word received here.

Mrs. Van Eaton is well known in this vicinity, where she resided until a few years ago, on the Stevenson Road. She is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Ida Putnam of California.

Funeral services will be held Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock, in the Woodland Cemetery Chapel, this city, with interment in Woodland. Friends of the family are invited.

RECIPES WE HAVE TESTED

The Gazette-Republican has a number of home tried recipes handed in by women of the city at the time of the Gazette-Republican Home Makers Cooking School recently conducted in this city. These recipes will be published each day under the above heading until all of the recipes presented at that time have been used. Women of the city and county are invited to send in their favorite recipes and these will be published for the benefit of the other women of the community. If sufficient interest is manifested in the new department it will be continued indefinitely.

BREAKFASTS FOR FALL DAYS

By Barbara Brooks, Kellogg Co.,
Battle Creek, Mich.

The occasional day is cold and dark and dreary at this time of year, but most of us associate Fall with crisp air, warm sunshine, bright foliage and the dry, sweet fragrance of fallen leaves. These are the mornings when breakfast tastes good. We want something "under the vest" which will give a contented feeling before we go out to the day's work.

There are almost as many kinds of breakfasts as there are families in the world. The ideal morning meal includes foods which provide regulating and building material and fuel. The first may be supplied by fruit, whole grain cereals or bran. The second by eggs or meat and milk; the third by cereals, toast and butter. The important thing is to have a variety each day.

We saw a man eating breakfast in a restaurant not long ago. His choice was a double order of griddle cakes with butter and syrup and coffee. The cakes, butter and syrup all furnished fuel—but he had neither regulating nor building.

There are many interesting and healthful breakfast combinations, especially suitable for this time of year. In many parts of the country, cantaloupes are still delicious. Apples are ripe for baking, stewing and sauce; oranges, grape fruit are with us and there is a long list of dried fruits.

Cereal either hot or cold is a good filler and carries its share of valuable milk with it. Oatmeal and Corn Flakes are always popular. For the main course, eggs hold first place, but they need not always be cooked the same way.

Replace toast with bran muffins occasionally. These can be mixed the night before. Fill muffin pans with the batter; cover them with oiled paper and bake them the next morning.

The following recipes are two of our favorites. We serve them on Sunday morning because we have more time on that day for cooking. The eggs and muffins can be baked side by side in a moderate oven.

Fruit Bran Muffins
1 cup all-bran
2 cups flour
4 tsp. baking powder
1-2 tsp. salt
1-4 cup sugar
1 egg
1 cup milk
1-2 cup chopped raisins or prunes
3 tbsp. melted shortening.

Mix all-bran with sifted dry ingredients and beaten egg, milk, fruit and shortening. Bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees F.) for about twenty-five minutes.

Baked Eggs
Butter individual baking dishes. Put one tablespoon of cream in each; add an egg. Season with salt and paprika. Bake in a moderate oven about fifteen minutes—until the egg is firm.

White Cake
1 cup sugar
1-2 cup butter
2-3 cup milk
2 cups flour
3 teaspoonsful baking powder
Whites of 3 eggs
1 teaspoonful vanilla

Rolls Oats Cookies
1 cup sugar, 1 cup fat, 2 eggs, 4 tablespoonsful milk, 1 cup cooked raisins, 3-4 teaspoon soda, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 1 teaspoon nutmeg, 1 teaspoon cloves, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 2 cups rolled oats, 2 cups flour. Drop from spoon and bake in quick oven.

YOU POOR KID, WHY ARE YOU SO SKINNY

Doesn't your mother know that Cod Liver Oil will put pounds of good, healthy flesh on your bones in just a few weeks?

Tell her every druggist has it in sugar coated tablet form now so that you won't have to take the nasty, fish tasting oil that is apt to upset the stomach.

Tell her that McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets are chock-full of vitamins and are the greatest flesh producers and health builders she can find.

One sickly, thin kid, aged 9, gained 12 pounds in 7 months.

She must ask Sayre & Hemphill or any good druggist for McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets—63 tablets, 60 cents—as pleasant to take as candy.

Get McCoy's, the original and genuine Cod Liver Oil Tablet. adv

Waddle were delegates to a called meeting of Presbytery in Columbus on Monday.

The morning services at the Presbyterian Church will begin at 10 o'clock a. m. Sabbath school being omitted next Sunday, Nov. 9.

The New York Foreign Mission Board sends speakers to address both men and women. L. E. Smith, M. D., medical missionary from Africa, and Mrs. Love, also of Africa will speak.

Deep Cut in Tax Rate.

Cleveland, Nov. 4.—The tax rate in Cleveland will be reduced from $2.42 to approximately $2.15 on each $100 valuation in spite of a $1,000,000 operating increase the county commission allowed the city. County Auditor Zangerle declared. This will be the largest cut in tax rates since the Smith law became effective 12 years ago.

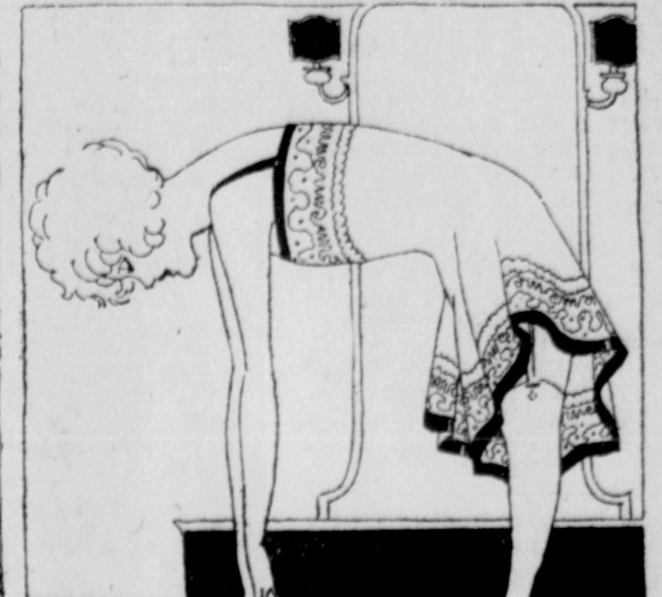

MODISH MITZI—Boudoir Scenes! !

Place: Mitzi's boudoir.

Time: Retiring time.

Mitzi is seen massaging her face. She wears a nightgown of heavy flesh color crepe de chine with a V yoke of fine lace. A flower of crepe de chine is appliqued on the lace. The gown is finely pleated after the fashion of most French underwear.

Place: Polly's boudoir.

Time: Same time.

Pretty Polly is first seen in odd position. She is doing half of her daily dozen. Six in the morning and six at night is Polly's faithful chore. She is clad in a French combination with a very full skirt. It is trimmed with lace and edged with ribbon.

Place: Adelaide's boudoir.

Time: Almost the same.

Adelaide is discovered on the chaise longue. She wears a nightgown of orchid crepe de chine. It is trimmed with bonneting and embroidered French knots down the front. No sleeves and long arm holes. So French!

Place: Eleanor's room.

Time: Midnight and thereabouts.

Eleanor is seen looking into the mirror. Her expression shows that she is admiring her nightgown. It is a robe of crepe de chine in Empire style. The shoulders have ruffles in directoire style. Eleanor turns out the light. Curtain.

UNCLE SAM ACTUAL BUSINESS PARTNER OF MOST INDUSTRIES

Pittsburgh, Pa., Nov. 4.—How Uncle Sam becomes the actual partner and the hardest and most efficient worker in most of the private industries of the country, was the note most strongly emphasized by the leading speakers at the convention of the Direct Mail Advertisers Association here yesterday.

But the most concrete and epigrammatic presentation of this fact was made by E. D. Gibbs, Advertising Director of The National Cash Register Company of Dayton, Ohio, who pointed out that Uncle Sam using every known means of transport, by rail, steamship, airplane, snowshoe and sled in the far north; horseback and bicycle in the rural districts, regardless of expense or danger, transports the messages of business all over the world at the cost of a postage stamp.

And then Mr. Gibbs let the postage stamp speak for itself thus: I am LICKED before I start out, yet I always deliver the goods. I am STAMPED on at the beginning but never at the finish. I always get in a CORNER and I start in by getting in a BOX but I find my way out. I sometimes look like TWO CENTS but that doesn't lessen my importance. I always have a HEAD on me but I keep it to myself. I've got to be STUCK on something before I can do any work. I'm just a little piece of paper with the seal of UNCLE SAM. But the business world without me isn't worth a tinker's damn.

XENIA H. S. NOTES

At an assembly of the students of Central High Monday afternoon Principal Harper Pendry explained the various ballots and the offices which are to come before the pupils on election day in the nature of a straw vote which will be open to the students of both junior and central, Tuesday afternoon.

He also announced that Mr. Guill, famous imitator of birds and creatures of the wood, would entertain the high school students Tuesday afternoon. Mr. Guill gave his program before the Rotary Club at its luncheon Tuesday noon. He is considered one of the best in that line and his program is certain to interest the High School.

The first number of the Lyceum Course is to be given Thursday evening. Dr. S. Parkes Cadman will be the speaker. Dr. Cadman is known the world over for his wonderful ability as an orator and lecturer. He will also appear in Columbus before the Central Ohio Teachers' meeting to be held on Friday and Saturday, November 7 and 8. He is slated to be the principal speaker. There will be no school Friday much to the sorrow of the pupils.

The new Central High Orchestra under the direction of Mr. Whitworth will play at each number of the Lyceum course it is said. There are about fifteen pieces in the organization.

Wednesday afternoon a representative of the William Focke Sons Packing Company, will demonstrate the cutting and the choice of meats to the High School.

Besides softening water there is a use for CLIMALENE in all your cleaning tasks

CLIMALENE is a perfect water softener; and also a wonderfully efficient cleansing agent. In the dishwasher, for instance, without the aid of soap, Climalene cuts the grease and makes the dishes quickly shine.

Or put a teaspoonful of Climalene in a kettle of boiling water, and drop your tarnished silverware into it for five minutes. You will be astonished at the shining success. Further proof of Climalene's magic cleansing qualities.

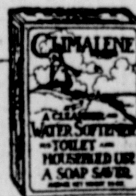

So everywhere Climalene is performing its twofold purpose of softening water instantly, perfectly, harmlessly; and of cleaning as well, whether it be dishes, fine fabrics, woodwork, tile, or the tender human skin.

Sold by all grocers in 12 oz. and 2 lb. packages.

Central High School's game with Troy last Friday, although the result was not altogether pleasing to ardent followers of the game, brought several facts to light that may prove a benefit to the local aggregation in its remaining games with Greenfield, Roosevelt, Wilmington and Washington C. H., namely, that Central has a passing attack, the strength of which was heretofore unknown, even to the team itself.

At frequent intervals throughout the disastrous Troy game Xenia uncoiled an aerial attack, that, although not fruitful of results in the way of touchdowns, threatened Troy's goal line time and again, and this same passing game may prove to be the factor in possibly winning the game with Greenfield Friday afternoon at Cox Memorial Athletic Field.

Another factor that should prove a help to the overhead attack, is the fact that the locals are not handicapped by having but one player who can pass or receive a throw with equal accuracy. Towles, Spahr, Scurry, Holton and Boxwell, are all well adept at this game, as was demonstrated in the Troy game.

Xenia has several triple threat men in the persons of Spahr, Holton, Towles and Scurry. Spahr, originally an end, can be shifted to either half or full if the occasion demands and is able to either kick, pass, receive a throw or run. The same holds true of Holton, Scurry and Towles as each possess that ability.

Central's gridders are making special efforts to be in the pink of condition for the Greenfield game Friday, as the locals have a winning record over Greenfield of long standing to maintain. In fact Greenfield has not triumphed over a local eleven in the past four years and with this fine record to maintain the locals are making every effort in practice to be ready for the traditional rivals Friday.

In spite of Xenia's poor showing on the gridiron this year, handicapped by injuries and a hard schedule, it will be remembered that the Central eleven last year had not won a game until Greenfield was met. Then it suddenly found itself and walked off the field with a 13 to 0 victory safely pocketed.

The stage is set for Xenia to repeat its performance of last year with Greenfield, and Coach John Ballantyne is giving his charges one of the hardest weeks of practice it has had this year, in an effort to have history repeat itself Friday.

Greenfield's strength on the gridiron this year is unknown, but it is said it is much stronger this year than in the past and is determined to hand Xenia its sixth straight setback of the season.

SHOUTING ALL THAT REMAINS IN CONFERENCE RACE THOUGH UPSETS ARE STILL POSSIBLE

Cleveland, Nov. 4.—The shouting that remains at this stage of the Ohio Conference race, is all that is left of the contest. It's all over but that. However that self-same shouting or rather interpreted to be the questionable strength of already defeated teams may still upset an apparently decided race.

Oberlin and Ohio Wesleyan, the two survivors of a viciously contested field can each be beaten, but probably won't. The Congressionalists meet the stronger opposition in Cincinnati and Miami. The Bear Cats always have a powerful but usually ineffectual eleven, which will be outsmarted by the Oberlin team. Miami, a traditional enemy, might turn the trick.

Ohio Wesleyan has still Ohio and Akron to defeat, with the latter scheduled to give the most resistance. A win over the Methodists will give Akron a successful season, despite all else for the rubber men's major triumph eliminated Wooster.

This week, the Oberlin-Cincinnati and Ohio Wesleyan-Akron games hold the center of the stage, not because of the approximated closeness of the contest, but because each leader might be defeated.

Coach McLaren's Cincinnati eleven with McAndrew as the star, has always been a driving outfit, which could accumulate a flock of first downs when they mean nothing and is unable to accomplish anything, when there is a chance to score.

However, Oberlin emerged from the Case victory slightly the worse for wear. It was a grueling game that exhausted each team and the congressionalists backs are not in the best condition. Then too, the affair is played at Cincinnati.

Wooster plays at home, and unless Akron can keep up a sustained attack, as well as a defense against passes, the Methodists will be a step nearer the championship.

Akron, however, has a capable eleven and has shown the ability to take advantage of the breaks in the game.

At Cleveland, Case meets Wooster. On the surface, this should mean a fairly easy Wooster victory, for the Scientists were badly battered last week and Captain Cribben, their offensive mainstay will be out of the game. Then too, Wooster's tie with Ohio State, has given Bole's outfit a semblance of class, newly obtained this year.

However, Case showed too much good football last week, to be counted out yet. With a fairly neat defense and a good looking attack, the Brown and White played with nice co-ordination and showed the effects of good coaching. The revival of Case through the medium of Coach Bob Fletcher with its consequent result, is probably the outstanding display in the Ohio Conference this year.

Against Wooster, Fletcher hopes to be able to maintain his defense and also to stop the Wooster passes, the one weak spot in the Case defensive game, as shown at Oberlin.

Presenting perhaps, one of the best teams in the race, Ohio Northern meets Denison at Granville.

Miami meets Western Reserve at Oxford. A victory over Oberlin the following week is the acme of Miami desire, but the Oxfordians still believe that a win over the Pioneers will help the cause. The red and white, with as good a line as there is in the conference and as bad a backfield, will be drilled on offensive play all week, with the hope that some sort of a successful attack may soon be obtained.

Unable to stand the gaff, of a terrific last quarter attack by Wesleyan, Wittenberg's host will start to work anew for the remaining games on the schedule. Muskingum comes next at Springfield. The consistent Muskies are again due for a trimming, having won their last game and Godfrey's team is eager to do the work.

St. Xavier's second conference game for the Saints, oppose Kenyon at Cincinnati. The Gambler lads apparently have a real team for the overwhelming of Mt. Union by a 20-0 score showed unexpected strength on both attack and defense. So far, this season, the Catholics have appeared to be a rather bad outfit, but according to the Cincinnati headquarters, even a worm must turn at sometime.

At Otterbein, Heidelberg's team meets Otterbein and the United Brethren with a heavier squad should have little trouble. Neither has shown much, but the Otterbein squad has made more out of fewer opportunities.

Mt. Union still smarting under the Kenyon wallop, will follow the present custom of taking revenge upon the innocent Hiram eleven, which hasn't harmed any one and would even be meat for the proverbial fly.

But such is the schedule.

TOM PAPPAS WILL MEET BILL BROOKS IN EAGLES' MATCH

The Eagles are announcing another wrestling match to be staged at Eagle Hall Monday November 10. In the main go Tom Pappas will meet Bill Brooks of Wilmington in the best two out of three falls.

These two hooked up not long ago with the Wilmington man coming out on the long end. That night Pappas did not show very good form but this time he is promising the fans he will be in the pink of condition and will more than even things up with Brooks.

Brooks, a former Xenian, is plenty tough and will make Pappas or the best of them step to pin his shoulders to the mat. Brooks said that Pappas was easy and that he would wrestle him any time at any place. Pappas is confident that he can take Brooks.

measure and a hot match is bound to take place when these two clash. The rest of the card will be announced in a few days.

Any boys that want to be trained for wrestling can do so by handing in their names at Eagles Hall from now up until the time of the wrestling match and then arrangements will be made for them and dates set. Tom Pappas will probably be the instructor.

BOWLING ADDED TO LOCAL ATTRACTIONS

Bowling has been introduced in Xenia for the first time in ten years by A. L. Regan, proprietor of the Arcade billiard hall, South Detroit Street.

Two alleys recently installed in the basement of the building will be operated in conjunction with the pocket billiard sport.

The installation work was begun three weeks ago, and the alleys were opened for the first time Friday afternoon. The alleys are of regulation size and are first class in every detail.

Mr. Regan formerly operated a lunch counter in the basement but recently decided to turn the space into a bowling alley, and moved the lunch counter to the main floor.

The formal opening of the alleys was held Monday evening, when a professional team of five bowlers from Springfield known as the Blue Birds, opposed a local team known as the Arcade team and beat the locals two games out of three.

The feature of the game was the fine bowling of the Blue Birds in its first game when they knocked down 1023 pins, but fell down in the last two games and registered scores of 784 and 865. Xenia's team composed of Raymond Cox, anchor man, Roy Hayward, George Dadds, Arch Jeffers and A. L. Regan bowled games of 800, 866 and 744 taking the middle game by eighty-two pins.

Harnes bowled best for Springfield with 226 in the first game while Cox was high for Xenia with 192 in the first game.

Frequent matches will be held on the new alleys in the future.

APPLE DAY DRAWS INTEREST IN XENIA

Xenia groceries and fruit stores made special observance of "National Apple Day" Friday, with attractive displays of apples of all varieties.

The day was set aside this year for the first time, by the National Shippers' Association and plans were made for the observance of the occasion from coast to coast.

Some local stores made special sales of apples the attraction, and an unusually large number of apples were reported sold Friday and Saturday.

ATHLETICS WITHOUT GAME WHEN DAYTON TEAM LEAVES FIELD

The scheduled foot ball game between the East Side Athletics and the Burkham Excels, of Dayton Sunday afternoon at Dickenson Park was not played following a disagreement over whether the game should be played on a per cent basis, or the visiting team should receive a straight money guarantee, and as a result the money was returned to about one hundred disappointed fans at the gate.

According to Manager W. O. Rickman, of the Athletics, the Excels arrived at the park about fifteen minutes late, and after a few minutes practice, Rickman asked the Excels if they were ready to begin. Rickman declared that the Dayton manager called him across the field and said that his team would not play unless guaranteed $30 and would not play on a per cent basis as he had contracted.

Manager Rickman objected because of the short notice given the game, but declared that he would put the proposition to his team mates. During his talk with his team, in which it was decided to comply with the Excels' request, the Dayton aggregation walked off the field to their dressing room, and when the manager was asked for an explanation, he is said to have declared that four of his men had already left for Dayton, and refused to play with but eleven men.

Manager Rickman has not contracted for a game with the Excels in the future, it was declared Monday.

LEGION AUXILIARY TO HOLD POPPY SALE

Saturday, November 8, has been set aside by the Legion Auxiliary of this city, as "Poppy Day" which is observed over the country annually.

The handmade scarlet flowers will be sold by the Girl Scouts and Camp Fire Girls during the day. The girls will visit the stores, business houses, and offices and will accept shoppers. The flowers will be sold for any sum over ten cents.

The proceeds of the poppy sale will be used by the Legion Auxiliary in its welfare department, for work among the disabled soldiers and their dependants and hospital work.

CHILDREN PREFER WASHING TEACHERS IN LUCAS CO. SAY

Tradition is shattered again. It isn't true that kids shun washing, even in part, more than anything else. That, at least, is what the teachers of three Lucas Schools have reported to home economics extension officials connected with the Ohio State University. It's this way:

The teachers agreed to try to teach their pupils some fifteen health habits as a basis for lasting good health. The fifteen rules, or habits, were presented to the youngsters one at a time in five-minute talks once a week.

Of the fifteen rules the teachers wanted to establish as habits, two were adopted by the children far more readily than any of the others. The two were: washing the hands before eating, and eating three meals a day without grumbling about the food. Washing the hands before eating was about the easiest habit to establish, the reports say.

The three rules that were hardest to establish were these: Use milk instead of coffee or tea; eat cooked cereal for breakfast with not more than one teaspoonful of sugar; eat two vegetables other than potatoes and beans daily.

This year seven schools in Lucas County will teach these fifteen health habits for a greater variety of vegetables in habits. They will emphasize the need the daily diet, and the need for one hot dish at lunch each day.

MRS. JAMES BOSTON CALLED BY DEATH

Found Strength by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Kankakee, Illinois.—"My mother-in-law always took your medicine for weakness, and then in the Change of Life it did her so much good that she induced me to take it for a weakness I had for a year and a half. It has strengthened me and now I have a nice baby boy. I do all my own housework now, and I recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound whenever I have the opportunity. I am taking it again for weakness, as my family doctor has recommended it for this purpose."—Mrs. HARRY COULOM, 984 N. Harrison Ave., Kankakee, Illinois.

Real Evidence of Merit

For the relief of female weakness, pains and backache, nervousness and irregularities, with other troubles common to women, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a dependable medicine.

Its worth is thoroughly established by such letters as the above. There are women everywhere, who, having received benefit, gladly tell other women about it. For sale by druggists everywhere.

BRINGING UP FATHER

The Truant Soul

By Victor Rousseau

Joan remained where the buggy had been. She realized that for the present she could get no help from Jenkins. He had seemed afraid, not for himself, but for Lancaster. What had Lancaster done, then, that he should be in the power of Myers? Had he embezzled the funds of the institute?

The question was an absurd one. It was unbelievable that Lancaster should be a thief; besides, the explanation would not solve the problem at all.

She went back to the verandah. She was resolved to reach the bottom of the mystery, for Lancaster's sake; to prove her loyalty although he had withdrawn his demand on her.

As she reached the front door she was startled to hear her name spoken in the matron's room. The speaker was Myers.

"She knows a good deal too much," Fraser was saying.

"But she knows nothing at all," Mrs. Myers answered. "What do you suppose the doctor brought her here for, if not to try to publish his shame to the world?"

"Aye, his shame," repeated the matron bitterly. "It's hard work for three people to try to hold up one man, without a fourth coming in."

"Well, is that his game?" demanded the secretary. "Is it or isn't it?"

"We want a nurse. You know we've often tried to get one, Mr. Myers, but they won't stay here. It's hard work taking care of the patients sometimes, when there's a rush."

"Rush!" repeated Myers scornfully. "Who'd rush to this old place with the doctor's reputation?"

"They do come, and the people trust him," said Mrs. Fraser, half crying.

"Yes," scoffed the other. "And the doctor still has his grandiose ideas about building up the institution—him that wrecked it."

"Well, that girl knows nothing, anyway."

"I tell you she means to help the doctor in his crazy plan of notoriety. She means to undo all our work in his own interests," cried Myers vehemently.

Joan walked away. She had overheard unwillingly, and enough to convince her that there was a mystery, with Myers at the bottom of it, and she had rightly sensed an enemy in him, and he in her. Now her mind was resolute to remain and fight for Lancaster. It was as if her decision, suddenly crystallized, had suddenly grown crystal-clear.

But she had not passed the entrance when the matron's door swung open violently and Myers came out. He stood confronting Joan with his insulting leer.

"Miss Wentworth," he began, "when you and I had our talk this morning you hadn't seen the doctor. You didn't know how things were situated, and I don't blame you. Now you've seen that the doctor needs a guardian. Well, I'm his guardian."

"I do not think that Doctor Lancaster needs a guardian, Mr. Myers," answered Joan, facing him steadily.

"See here, now, Miss Wentworth," said Myers, swallowing hard. "You don't get the drift of things, just as I thought. You think I'm trying to stand in the way of your work, when I'm only trying to reach a sort of working agreement to keep things in running order. That's my aim. Am I right?"

"I don't know whether you are right. I think you are extremely un-civil. Take off your hat!" flashed Joan.

Myers removed the hard hat from his head and stared at her in astonishment. He could not understand her sudden initiation of hostilities.

"Well, I reckon that's my nature, and I'm sorry," he said. He was trying to be conciliatory now. "I'm sorry if I get on your nerves, Miss Wentworth," he persisted, "but I wasn't brought up to be a ladies' man. However, I know my job, and I reckon you know yours. If you think I'm trying to stand between the doctor and you, come and see him right now."

"I have no complaint to make, and I have made none," said Joan.

"Come and see him," persisted Myers. "You're the nurse, and I guess it's up to you."

She looked at him, dismayed by his expression. "Is Doctor Lancaster worse?" she asked.

"Well, nothing that I didn't expect, but he might be better," said Myers, sneering.

He walked toward the door of Lancaster's room and opened it. Through the aperture Joan saw Lancaster stretched out in a large chair, his head bent forward on his breast, his limbs immobile. She hurried into the room.

But Myers preceded her to Lancaster's side. He raised the limp arm and turned up the sleeve. Joan saw that the skin was densely scarred with tiny punctures. Lancaster was breathing heavily, and beside him, upon a little table, was a syringe, and near that a little bottle containing a few drops of a pale fluid. Joan drew in her breath quickly. It was what she had feared.

"Morphine," said Myers. "He always does this when he comes home. Now you understand what I was trying to get at this morning, Miss Wentworth. I'm responsible for him. It's my job to keep him straight if I can. When I can't, I try. Now you see, perhaps, why he's lost his will power, and why I have to keep after him like a dog following his master. And I guess you won't think I'm trying to set him against you."
